100 Women Interested In Nursing

Hear About Study For Adult School

More than 100 women attended a meeting Thursday evening at the George Washington School to learn about the Licensed Practical Nurses' course that is to be offered by the Kingston Board of Education.

Raphael Klein, director of Adult Education in the Kingston school system; Mrs. Shirley Fletcher, coordinator of the course, and Mrs. Sylvia Starkman, nutrition instructor, were present to give details of the course and answer questions.

It was explained that there is a definite need for licensed practical nurses and no similar course is offered in the area. Both local hospitals are interested in the course and will cooperate with the school in the instruction.

Details of Course

The course of 11 months of instruction, five months of six hours a day in school and six months of eight hours a day in the hospital. The school part will be held in No. 6 School on O'Neil Street where very fine facilities will be available and the hospital training will be given at the Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals.

The school is considered fortunate in securing very well qualified instructors. Mrs. Shirley Fletcher, RN, the coordinator of the course has her B.S. degree from Goucher College and her Masters Degree from Yale School of Nursing She is at present working at Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. Starkman, the nutrition instructor, has her Bachelor degree in Education and Nutrition from New York University. She did her student training for the American Dietetic Association at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital where she was later employed to teach the nurses.

Mrs. Howard Delano, RN, is another instructor. She has her bachelor degree and RN from Plattsburgh State Teachers College and has done graduate work at Columbia, and is a present teaching nurses in Kingston Hospital. Mrs. Delano helped set up and for several years conducted the Licensed Practical Nurses Training Course in Schenectady.

The minimum age for students to enter the course is 18. It will be necessary for applicants to take an examination for admission to the course and also pass a physical examination. Application blanks are available from Adult Education Department at Kingston High School. Because of limited facilities both at the school and the hospital the enrollment is necessarily limited to 25 students.

There was a delegation present at the meeting from the local Licensed Practical Nurses Association that is extremely interested in this course. They indicated their interest further by offering a $25 prize to be given to the top ranking student at the end of the year.

The course is to start in September 1962 and end July 1963. The licensing examination given by the state will be given in August. Any additional information about the course can be obtained by communicating with the Adult Education Department of the Kingston High School.

Family Court Judge Favored

County Court Schedule Too Crowded, Adequate Accommodations Advised

Speaking as chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the Ulster County Bar Association, County Judge Raymond J. Mino last night told the Ulster County Board of Supervisors that two separate judgeships, that of Ulster County Judge and that of Family Court Judge was unanimously recommended by the Bar Association.

The board was also told that adequate accommodations must be provided for the two courts, together with adequate quarters for a larger Probation Department which will become necessary under provisions of the Family Court, effective September 1.

Speaking for the Ulster County Bar Judiciary Committee, Judge Mino congratulated the Board for its interest in the new state-wide court system which was authorized last November by means of a consitutional amendment approved by the voters of the state.

Advice of Bar Sought

At the last regular meeting of the board, Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux (R), Woodstock, suggested the board invite the Judiciary Committee of the Bar Association to meet and make recommendations as to what course the board should take in putting the new Family Court system into effect. Molyneaux at that time noted that the board should take action prior to August, since the new law must become effective in September. At that time the old Children's Court, now a part of the County Court system, is supplanted by the new Family Court.

Molyneaux told the board in June that the Bar Association and legal profession was better qualified to make a decision than were laymen and he suggested the board seek information and recommendations from the Bar Association. That was the purpose of the session last evening.

Two Judges Favored

Judge Mino stated that, after conferences with various legal figures, county associations and state leaders, including prominent judicial personages, the Ulster County Bar Association was of the opinion that Ulster County should have two judges, one presiding at the County Court and a new judgship, that of Family Court judge.

Pointing out that the matter of providing the county with two judges was the province of the Board of Supervisors, Judge Mino stated that unless by September 1 the board certified that a Family Court judge be elected in November, he as county judge would automatically become the Family Court judge.

Duties Increase

During the past 15 years the duties of the county judge and judge of the Children's Court in Ulster County have increased three-fold, Judge Mino said and he also pointed out with the forming of the Family Court many additional duties will fall on that court. He stated that with the increased business now in County Court and the substantial increase in the duties of Family Court over that of the present Children's Court, it would be impossible for the county judge to properly carry out all of the judicial duties of the two courts and accomplish the ends justice to all. The Bar therefore suggested two courts, and election of a Family Court judge this fall to take over on January 1, 1963, meanwhile the county judge would function in both courts.

The following recommendations were made to the board:

A low bid of $15,875 submitted by a Poughkeepsie firm was among those opened Thursday afternoon in the office of Mayor John J. Schwenk, for the contract to demolish buildings and clear properties in the uptown area for two off-street parking lots.

Hope to Avert New Bloodbath

Arab Group Would Mediate Dispute

ALGIERS (AP)—Shooting broke out again in Oran today and panic swept the European section. Authorities promptly clamped on a curfew to prevent a renewal of Thursday's Moslem-European bloodbath which cast a pall in independence festivities of this infant nation.

A new estimate placed the toll in Thursday's conflict at more than 100 dead.

No Casualty Report

There were no immediate reports of casualties in today's shooting.

Europeans ran for cover from shouting Moslems apparently pursuing a man they described as a Secret Army Organization terrorist. There was no reply to the Moslem gunfire and it died down quickly.

The tense situation in Oran overshadowed for the moment political efforts to heal a breach between rival Moslem factions contending for the leadership of the nation. Algeria's delegate to the Arab League was flying in from Cairo for a mediation attempt.

Blames 'Fascists'

The Nationalist information minister, Mohammed Yazid, blamed Thursday's violent battle in Oran, former stronghold of the secret army, on diehard "Fascists" who refused to go along with the abandonment of the terrorist struggle against Moslem rule.

There was no clear explanation in Oran on how the shooting started. In Paris, sources said they received reports from Oran that the fight began when a group of Moslems went to the roof of a European apartment building to hoist an Algerian flag. Europeans living in the building resented it and a brawl broke out which spread like wildfire, according to this version.

Algeria's Delegate

Soblen Fit to Travel, Lawyers Delay Return

LONDON (AP)—Hospital officials said today Dr. Robert A. Soblen is fit to travel—but his lawyers claimed to have blocked the fugitive spy's removal to America until at least July 16.

A British legal firm representing the 62-year-old psychiatrist said this is the effect of a court summons served this morning on Home Secretary R. A. Butler.

To Oppose Court Move

"The legal position is enormously complicated," said a Home Office spokesman, who declined to speculate what moves the Home Office might make.

In Washington, Justice and State Department officials went into conference on the affair.

A Justice Department spokesman said details were being worked out on steps to oppose Soblen's court move.

Soblen tried to knife himself to death rather than return to the United States to serve a life term in prison. He has been in a London hospital since Sunday.

The delaying move came in a post-midnight visit by two of Soblen's attorneys to the home of Justice Sir Alan Abraham Mocatta.

Hearing Set July 16

The justice granted them permission to apply for a writ of habeas corpus and set the hearing for 10 days from now. If obtained, such a writ would require that Soblen be brought into court for an inquiry into the lawfulness of his detention.

The Home Office has insisted all along that Soblen is merely in transit through Britain, not in custody. The Home Office position is that he must be taken out of the country by El Al, the Israeli airline, which was transporting him to New York when he interrupted the trip with his suicide attempt.

A spokesman at Hillingdon Hospital near London airport said Soblen is now fit to travel.

El Al has an airliner scheduled to leave for New York this afternoon. Asked whether Soblen would be aboard, an airline spokesman said, "Maybe yes, maybe no."

Food Riots Add To Brazil Woes, 17 Persons Dead

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —Tanks and troops enforced calm on nearby Duque de Caxias today after frenzied mobs shouting "we want food" plundered more than 100 stores in a running fight with police and shopkeepers.

Mayor Adolfo Daci said 15 persons were killed and more than 100 injured before units of the 1st army quelled the rioting and sacking in that city of some 80,000 about 10 miles northwest of Rio.

Strike Is Halted

Two other persons were reported killed in similar but less violent food riots in the Rio suburbs of Sao Joao do Meriti and Nova Iguacu.

The riots erupted during a general strike called by union leaders demanding the formation of a popular nationalist government to settle the governmental stalemate between leftist President Joao Goulart and the conservative-dominated Parliament.

After conferring with Goulart, the union leaders called a halt to the strike last midnight. But union chiefs in Goulart's home state of Rio Grande do Sul rejected a plea from Gov. Leonel Brizola, Goulart's brother-in-law, and declared a new work stoppage today.

The food riots stemmed from the governmennt's attempt to control prices on such staples as beans, flour, rice, sugar and salt in the face of the nation's spiraling inflation. Storeowners have

Record Shot Put Off Third Time In Pacific Isle

HONOLULU (AP)—The United States today delayed for 24 hours its third attempt to explode a high altitude nuclear device above Johnston Island.

The postponement followed two holds totaling 90 minutes.

There was no immediate explanation for the delay.

Technical Troubles

Unofficial sources hinted that technical difficulties caused the one-day postponement.

The blast was to have been the biggest and highest in the current Pacific test series.

Two previous attempts at a high-altitude explosion fizzled when missile troubles developed. A shot failed on June 4 when the missile's tracking system went awry. Fifteen days later the Thor collapsed in flight directly above Johnston, peppering the island with debris which slightly injured two men.

Many Jammed Beaches

Tourists and residents in Hawaii, 750 miles away, headed home disappointed. They had jammed beaches and hills under partly clouy skies, hoping to catch a glimpse of what would have been a gigantic flash across the Pacific.

The blast, which was expected to pack more power than one million tons of TNT, would have been the 25th in the test series which began last April 24. The other nuclear devices were mostly dropped from airplanes in the Christmas Island area.

Unofficial sources had said the scheduled detonation perhaps would have been the last in the series. Repeated delays and failures were the reasons given.

Kennedy to Keep Close Watch

Tax Slash Is Pledged When Economy Needs It

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says he is giving very serious consideration to urgings from business and labor for an immediate income tax cut. And he feels Congress should think hard about it too.

But, he told his news conference Thursday, the decision whether taxes should be reduced now or next year will depend on the economy's health as reflected by basic economic indicators.

To Watch Indicators

Kennedy said he and his advisers will be watching these indicators closely "in the next months."

"If we feel that the situation in the economy warrants a tax cut then, of course, we would recommend it," he said.

For the present, said Kennedy, he will keep to his plan for tax reductions and other revisions next year.

He emphasized, however, that he and Congress should pay heed to recommendations from such diverse quarters as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for an early tax reduction.

"But the basic question will be to try to make an analysis as to the health of the economy over the next months," he added, "and whether '63 is the appropriate time or now."

In the meantime, he said, the administration will press for congressional action on present economic legislation, including the bill to give tax credit for plant and machine modernization and the antidepression measures to give him standby authority to cut taxes and launch a public works program.

Repeats Partnership Plan

The President reiterated his Fourth of July call for a declaration of interdependence with a united Europe—when Euope becomes one great organization, to advance all mankind.

"We would not want this to be a rich man's club while the rest

Buckley Pledged Labor Support in Congress Drive

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifty New York labor leaders have pledged their support to Rep. Charles A. Buckley of the Bronx in his campaign for renomination and reelection.

The labor leaders, from the State AFL-CIO and the City Central Labor Council, announced their support of Buckley Thursday after a four-hour luncheon meeting.

Break With Wagner

Claiming to represent 500,000 union members in the Bronx—mostly from the building trades—the leaders formed a committee to get out a big union vote for Buckley in the September primary.

This was regarded as an open break with Mayor Robert F. Wagner, now in Europe, who is leading the attack on Buckley as a representative and a county leader.

Harry Van Arsdale Jr., president of the million-member Labor Council commented:

"There is a certain injustice in some of the people trying to defeat him (Buckley) and I'd like to see them taught a lesson no matter who they are."

Compromise Hint Seen in Canada Medical Care Rift

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Saskatchewan's deputy premier said the provincial government is determined to continue its compulsory medical care plan but a hint of compromise appeared as a doctors' strike went into its sixth day today.

Deputy Premier J. H. Brockelbank told a news conference here that the provincial cabinet might consider calling the legislature into session, perhaps to act on amendments which would allow doctors to practice outside the health act.

"If there was satisfactory evidence a special session would do some positive good, it would receive favorable consideration by the provincial cabinet," he said.

In another hint of conciliation, Brockelbank disclosed that Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd was in eastern Canada on a secret mission. He did not reject a possibility that Lloyd's mission might deal with mediation.

The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons has rejected mediation as unworkable now, with feelings running high.

Dr. Sam Landa, emergency coordinator for the Canadian Medical Commission, said in Saskatoon that emergency services have begun to shrink.

He reported 36 of the 240 doctors who volunteered service when the strike began have quit and the others are spread very thinly.

A self-styled Citizens' Safety Committee in Regina ordered the striking doctors to resume practice by today or face reprisals. Police patrols were reinforced to foestall violence to the doctors or their families.

More than 60 doctors have quit Saskatchewan in recent weeks.

The provincial plan permits free choice of doctors and requires every resident of the province to contribute to the cost through payroll deductions and general taxes.

Waiting to Pick Economical Site, Interview on 12th

Ulster County Community College board of trustees at a meeting Thursday night reached no decision on a possible site and received more potential sites from the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. Consideration will be given each site.

Harry Rigby Jr., temporary chairman of the board, said the trustees planned to move promptly but also planned to take sufficient time to select "the finest site at the lowest cost to the taxpayers."

The chairman said that a determination has to be made to work out plans for a suitable water supply and sewage disposal system. The matter of access to a site and right-of-way leading to a stream also are under study.

Rigby informed the trustees that he will serve as temporary chairman only for two weeks. He said a nominating committee report is expected by July 19.

The trustees will meet again Thursday, July 12, starting 1:30 p. m. and continuing until 10 or 11 p. m. The session will be dedicated to interviewing eight potential candidates for college presidency, Rigby said.

Gross said the total figure covers a six-year period and includes income taxes, fraud penalties and interest.

Record Shot Put Off Third Time In Pacific Isle

HONOLULU (AP)—The United States today delayed for 24 hours its third attempt to explode a high altitude nuclear device above Johnston Island.

The postponement followed two holds totaling 90 minutes.

There was no immediate explanation for the delay.

Technical Troubles

Unofficial sources hinted that technical difficulties caused the one-day postponement.

The blast was to have been the biggest and highest in the current Pacific test series.

Two previous attempts at a high-altitude explosion fizzled when missile troubles developed. A shot failed on June 4 when the missile's tracking system went awry. Fifteen days later the Thor collapsed in flight directly above Johnston, peppering the island with debris which slightly injured two men.

Many Jammed Beaches

Tourists and residents in Hawaii, 750 miles away, headed home disappointed. They had jammed beaches and hills under partly clouy skies, hoping to catch a glimpse of what would have been a gigantic flash across the Pacific.

The blast, which was expected to pack more power than one million tons of TNT, would have been the 25th in the test series which began last April 24. The other nuclear devices were mostly dropped from airplanes in the Christmas Island area.

Unofficial sources had said the scheduled detonation perhaps would have been the last in the series. Repeated delays and failures were the reasons given.

Tax Liens Mount To Over 3 Million Against 'Newsboy'

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Tax liens totaling $3,395,665.33 were filed today by the federal government against bookmaker Joseph (Newsboy) Moriarty.

Chris L. Gross, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, said at Newark the liens were filed in Hudson and Essex counties.

Gross said the total figure covers a six-year period and includes income taxes, fraud penalties and interest.

Moriarity, serving a 2-to-3 year sentence in State Prison at Trenton, has been tabbed by Jersey City police as the owner of a $2.4-million hoard found in an abandoned car Tuesday.

Kennedy to Keep Close Watch

Tax Slash Is Pledged When Economy Needs It

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says he is giving very serious consideration to urgings from business and labor for an immediate income tax cut. And he feels Congress should think hard about it too.

But, he told his news conference Thursday, the decision whether taxes should be reduced now or next year will depend on the economy's health as reflected by basic economic indicators.

To Watch Indicators

Kennedy said he and his advisers will be watching these indicators closely "in the next months."

"If we feel that the situation in the economy warrants a tax cut then, of course, we would recommend it," he said.

For the present, said Kennedy, he will keep to his plan for tax reductions and other revisions next year.

He emphasized, however, that he and Congress should pay heed to recommendations from such diverse quarters as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for an early tax reduction.

"But the basic question will be to try to make an analysis as to the health of the economy over the next months," he added, "and whether '63 is the appropriate time or now."

In the meantime, he said, the administration will press for congressional action on present economic legislation, including the bill to give tax credit for plant and machine modernization and the antidepression measures to give him standby authority to cut taxes and launch a public works program.

Repeats Partnership Plan

The President reiterated his Fourth of July call for a declaration of interdependence with a united Europe—when Euope becomes one great organization, to advance all mankind.

"We would not want this to be a rich man's club while the rest

Buckley Pledged Labor Support in Congress Drive

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifty New York labor leaders have pledged their support to Rep. Charles A. Buckley of the Bronx in his campaign for renomination and reelection.

The labor leaders, from the State AFL-CIO and the City Central Labor Council, announced their support of Buckley Thursday after a four-hour luncheon meeting.

Break With Wagner

Claiming to represent 500,000 union members in the Bronx—mostly from the building trades—the leaders formed a committee to get out a big union vote for Buckley in the September primary.

This was regarded as an open break with Mayor Robert F. Wagner, now in Europe, who is leading the attack on Buckley as a representative and a county leader.

Harry Van Arsdale Jr., president of the million-member Labor Council commented:

"There is a certain injustice in some of the people trying to defeat him (Buckley) and I'd like to see them taught a lesson no matter who they are."

Most of the leaders worked

Arab Group Would Mediate Dispute

ALGIERS (AP)—Shooting broke out again in Oran today and panic swept the European section. Authorities promptly clamped on a curfew to prevent a renewal of Thursday's Moslem-European bloodbath which cast a pall in independence festivities of this infant nation.

A new estimate placed the toll in Thursday's conflict at more than 100 dead.

No Casualty Report

There were no immediate reports of casualties in today's shooting.

Europeans ran for cover from shouting Moslems apparently pursuing a man they described as a Secret Army Organization terrorist. There was no reply to the Moslem gunfire and it died down quickly.

The tense situation in Oran overshadowed for the moment political efforts to heal a breach between rival Moslem factions contending for the leadership of the nation. Algeria's delegate to the Arab League was flying in from Cairo for a mediation attempt.

Blames 'Fascists'

The Nationalist information minister, Mohammed Yazid, blamed Thursday's violent battle in Oran, former stronghold of the secret army, on diehard "Fascists" who refused to go along with the abandonment of the terrorist struggle against Moslem rule.

There was no clear explanation in Oran on how the shooting started. In Paris, sources said they received reports from Oran that the fight began when a group of Moslems went to the roof of a European apartment building to hoist an Algerian flag. Europeans living in the building resented it and a brawl broke out which spread like wildfire, according to this version.

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—Saskatchewan's deputy premier said the provincial government is determined to continue its compulsory medical care plan but a hint of compromise appeared as a doctors' strike went into its sixth day today.

Deputy Premier J. H. Brockelbank told a news conference here that the provincial cabinet might consider calling the legislature into session, perhaps to act on amendments which would allow doctors to practice outside the health act.

"If there was satisfactory evidence a special session would do some positive good, it would receive favorable consideration by the provincial cabinet," he said.

In another hint of conciliation, Brockelbank disclosed that Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd was in eastern Canada on a secret mission. He did not reject a possibility that Lloyd's mission might deal with mediation.

The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons has rejected mediation as unworkable now, with feelings running high.

Dr. Sam Landa, emergency coordinator for the Canadian Medical Commission, said in Saskatoon that emergency services have begun to shrink.

He reported 36 of the 240 doctors who volunteered service when the strike began have quit and the others are spread very thinly.

A self-styled Citizens' Safety Committee in Regina ordered the striking doctors to resume practice by today or face reprisals. Police patrols were reinforced to foestall violence to the doctors or their families.

More than 60 doctors have quit Saskatchewan in recent weeks.

The provincial plan permits free choice of doctors and requires every resident of the province to contribute to the cost through payroll deductions and general taxes.

WELCOME CHALLENGE

The younger generation, as the older generation can attest, is going to the dogs. This is not new; it has been happening since Cain.

What is new is that, if one is inclined to be pessimistic, there are some grounds for believing that the younger generation's not alone.

Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota summed up the situation recently:

"The whole world at the middle of the 20th century is characterized by as much confusion and conflict as at any period in human history. I think it is accurate to say that this is the first time in man's existence on this planet when all continents and cultures, all countries and peoples have been in turmoil at the same time."

Supporting evidence is abundant, and anyone would be hard put to exhaust the list. Africa, Asia, Europe, South America—you name it and there's turmoil. But let's see if we can take a more optimistic view.

True, there has always been trouble. The big difference today, however, is that any disturbance in whatever country has the potential of disrupting the rest of the world. A ripple from Southeast Asia is not only felt in the West; it may be magnified into a tidal wave in its passage.

The reason is technology which has brought instant communications among peoples, enabled tremendous population growth, that has made the resources of one nation necessary to another, that has provided the means for and the ever-present threat of quick and wholesale self-destruction.

Yet having said all this, the fact remains that the world is still here and that it still goes on, and a pretty good argument could be made in favor of the course it is taking

For one thing, most of the political turmoil is engendered by an unprecedented upsurge among all peoples for a better deal in life, for them and for their children. Though there is danger that they may fall prey to false ideologies, take wrong turnings and destroy much that is good, the urges that impel them are eminently worth-while.

While the outcome of the contest between freedom and slavery is not sure, the very fact that freedom has survived the dark pages of history and is growing is inspiration for the future.

If some of the younger generation are indeed going to the dogs, there is still the fact that others among them are going to the stars.

And if the world really is going to pot, some are not so sure but that the pot may be filled with gold.

At least this much is sure: the clock cannot be turned back to a presumably less troubled time. To wish it could is to give up half the battle and to say that men are incapable of solving their problems.

Most men, fortunately, reject this thinking. Most men gladly accept the challenge of the future.

IT'S UP TO YOU

Each time there is a forest fire in this country, an average of 32 acres of timber are lost—enough to build 75 homes.

The loss cannot be measured in economics or board feet alone. Recreation, wildlife and watershed damage also enter the picture.

Tremendous as this wastage was, however, the 1961 figure was the lowest ever. There were nearly 5,000 fewer fires than in 1960, when 5.5 million acres burned.

SOME CHICKENS!

Nowadays we talk about billions almost as if they were chicken feed. The vast growth of tax collecting and tax spending is largely responsible for that airy attitude.

Next year's federal budget, for instance, will be around $92.5 billion. And one commentator has visualized its magnitude in this fashion:

Suppose you were able to authorize your wife to spend $1,000 per day, ad infinitum. It would take her 277,500 years to spend that $92.5 billion!

To come closer to earth, suppose you were a tightwad and put a meager $1 billion ceiling on her $1,000 a day spending. It would take 3,000 years for her to run through the bankroll.

If billions seem to be chicken feed, about all one can say is: Some chickens!

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WHAT IS COMPULSION?

Dr. Fred Schwarz, on the stattionery of the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade, writes:

'We had anticipated problems and difficulties in New York City, but we did not really understand the magnitude of the obstacles that would confront us. These had to be experienced to be believed. New York was a city of bigotry, boycott and fear. In this city it was considered in many quarters un-American to be an unashamed Christion. If a businesman dared to stand with us, he was faced with the threat of economic boycott, and financial strangulation. Many who agreed wholeheartedly with our methods and ministry were immobilized by fear of economic and social ostracism . . . "

I do not quite understand why it is "bigotry, boycott and fear" not to follow the behests of Dr. Fred Schwarz. What is the compulsion to follow his leadership or to attend his metings? Those who want to go are free to go; those who want to stay away are free to stay away. Is this bigotry?

The only new face among the speakers was Pat Boone, whse ancestor was Daniel Boone. Pat Boone's greatest contribution to the cause of anti-Communism was his promise to blow up his four daughters if the Communists captured them. Of course, no man would really kill his own daughters, not even a descendant of the doughty Daniel Boone. We must therefore accept his statement as an hyperbole, intended to shock.

When someone on the platform spoke about Lenin meeting Hitler, a friend telephoned me to inquire whether that was possible. I said that he must have heard wrong. He swore that that was what a speaker said. I still believed that it must have been a slip of the tongue. The dates are wrong. No! Virginia, I never met George Washington. He was no longer around when I was born!

The time for this kind of talk has long since pssed. The existence of Marxism in this world is a question of war. Soviet Russia is the Marxist enemy and unless we can fight and destroy Soviet Russia, it will fight and destroy us. As a matter of fact, this battle has been continuous since 1948. Soviet Russia's major recent victory was the conquest of Cuba, because that gave Russia a base 90 miles from the coast of the United States.

While these Schwarzites were busy themselves with the same speeches we all made in the 1930's, the Russian spy, Soblen, escaped from this country. Undoubtedly, this can ultimately lead to another exposure of Soviet espionage, for it is absolutely clear that Soblen could not have made such a smooth escape without assistance. The New York officials of the Federal government ought to be held responsible for Soblen's escape. He was free in $100,000 bail but jumped it. How does it happen that a spy is freed in so little bail? What civil liberties question was involved to justify putting up the bail on the ground of civil liberties?

I make this point because public officials, like private orators, have not yet adjusted their minds to the warlike character of the present phase of our relations with Soviet Russia. Every Communist must be regarded as a hateful agent of Soviet Russia, but there are more spies than there are Communists. The espionage network in this country ought to be brought to the surface and spies should be imprisoned.

This has nothing to do with fear. It has much to do with common sense. It has nothing to do with boycott, although I am sure that boycott is a most wholesome response to public activities For instance, I boycott Polish hams. We in the United States, produce all the hams we require. I have no intention of buying the goods of anybody whom I dislike. There are other goods to buy.

It has now become established by law that to call a man a Communist, unless he admits it, is libellous. That is a misunderstanding of Communism. It is all right to refer to man as a Republican, a Democrat, a Nazi, or even an S.O.B. Well, don't call him anything — just boycott him.

Follow to the Letter Doctor's Coronary Advice

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Earlier I outlined the steps leading to development of the dreaded coronary attack and listed the ways in which nature and your doctor try to prevent and treat these seizures.

Of the methods for prevention and treatment, use of anti-coagulant drugs alone poses a threat that, fortunately, may be lessened if not entirely prevented through your understanding and cooperation. Here are some of the most important facts you must know if you are to help your doctor help you:

1—A sudden cessation of anticoagulant dosage may cause the clotting time to rebound and thus favor an almost immediate tendency to recurrent thrombosis. Therefore, do not interrupt or discontinue taking your medication without your doctor's permission and under his guidance.

2—Continuation of the correct anticoagulant doses may result in abnormal bleeding when any operative procedure is attempted. So notify your doctor before you consult a surgical specialist or a dentist.

Then, when you arrive at the specialist's office, let him know that you are taking an anticoagulant so that he may consult with your doctor before he proceeds with what he plans to do.

3—Blood clotting and the dose of anticoagulant may be affected by any number of bodily and external circumstances. Therefore the preferred dose for you is a variable and not a constant.

That is why your doctor will want to see you regularly, and why he will be required to take frequent blood tests.

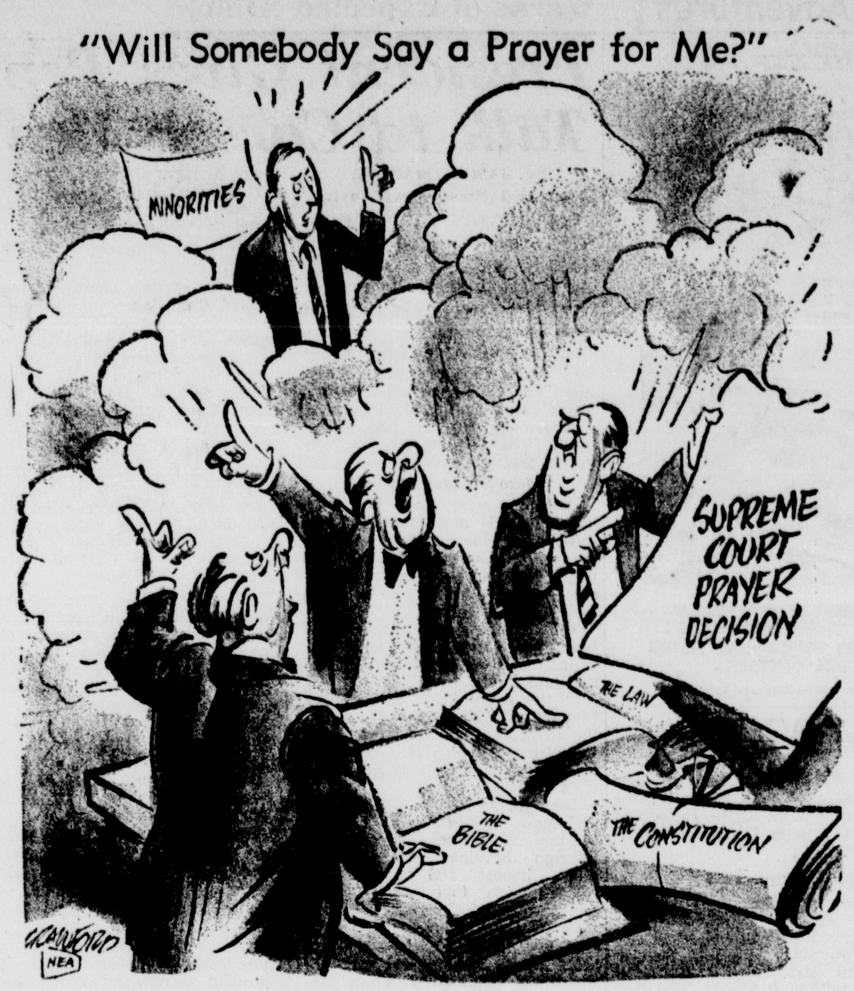

To emphasize the importance of these repeated tests, a team at the Mayo Clinic has just reported their experiences with long-term use of anticoagulants. Studying 139 separate periods of long-term treatment, they found abnormal bleeding in more than one-third of their patients, especially those who were hypertensives.

Thrombotic complications occurred in less than 10 per cent of those who continue with their drug. But, in those who stopped medication, the incidence rose to 17 per cent.

So, you see, treatment with anticoagulants has its dangers. To obtain the benefits, you must realize that the price of safety is vigilance.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — No matter what kind of tax law Congress comes up with for next year there is news for taxpayers this year in the Internal Revenue Service moderization program now being carried out by Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin.

He used to be a tax consultant and professor of tax law at University of Virginia. Now he's putting some of his theories into practice. He's very conscious of the cloud of having a "Big Brother" government watching over everything a taxpayer does or doesn't do, and catching him up. So the emphasis is on trying to humanize tax collecting and get more voluntary compliance from taxpayers.

ONE OF THE CURRENT PROGRAMS is to get all tax returns numbered so that the electronic data processing system now being set up can handle the 78 million individual and corporate tax returns now filed every year. Heartless machines won't collect the taxes. But they'll do much of the work in checking them and catching discrepancies.

Ninety per cent of the individuals filing tax returns put their Social Security numbers on their returns now. To the 10 per cent who don't a letter will soon go out, asking them, in a nice way, how come?

Dear Mr. Caplin: This is a very clear, graceful, friendly, intelligent letter. It is a pleasure to receive such a communication from the federal government. Whoever wrote it did a good job. —Yours sincerely, Rebecca Davis."

Caplin thinks this is progress.

TAXPAYERS WHO AREN'T under Social Security will be asked to file application for a number to be put on next year's return. Numbers will also be assigned to corporations.

Numbers have become essential because there are so many people having similar names —scattered all over the country or living in the same apartment. It's necessary to give 'em all numbers to tell 'em apart.

Last November, IRS opened its new National Computer Center at Martinsburg, W. Va. By 1966 it is hoped to have data on all 78 million tax returns on 400 miles of magnetic tape. Income tax return information will first be put on punch cards at nine IRS regional offices. The card data will then be automatically transferred to tape for Martinsburg.

The ADP—automatic data processing—center at Atlanta is already functioning. Philadelphia will begin operations next year. Cincinnati, Dallas, Omaha and Boston will be opened in 1964. Chicago, New York and San Francisco in 1965. It will take two years to complete the punch card operation, by 2,000 employes at each ADP center. Business returns will be punched the first year, individual returns the second.

This information is now scattered in 62 IRS district offices. If a taxpayer moves from one district to another, it now takes four or five years to check on whether he filed a return from both addresses. With all 78 million records on tape in Martinsburg, checking up on migrant taxpayers will be comparatively easy.

AT FIRST IT WON'T BE POSSIBLE to punch buttons and get data on any of the 78 million returns. But the electronic brains will be told, for example, "Give us all discrepancies in the state of New York." Out they'll come.

Last year Internal Revenue Service received $90.9 billion from voluntary tax payments and collected another $3.5 billion by enforcement. Treasury estimates that $24.4 billion in income was not reported. This resulted in a loss of $5 billion to the government. With the ADP system in full operation by 1966, it will be easier to track down some of these dodged taxes and collect them.

Caplin calls this "the biggest breakthrough in tax collecting since 1913." That was when the 16th Amendment to the Constitution empowered Congress to lay and collect taxes on income "from whatever source derived."

Today in World Affairs

Europe Ponders JFK Talk: What Kind of a Federation?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

GENEVA — President Kennedy's address at Independence Hall on July 4 was a bit confusing to Europeans. They couldn't tell whether he was forecasting a United States of Europe along the lines of his own country or whether, despite a loose use of words, he was trying to indicate that Europe might well have a federation or alliance as each country retained its sovereignty.

Mr. Kennedy was on firm ground as he extolled the idea of independence and as he rejoiced in the recently intensified movement away from colonialism throughout the world. He was logical, too, when he spoke of a declaration of "interdependence," for this concept means a "partnership" or strengthened alliance as between Europe and America.

The puzzlement developed, however, when Mr. Kennedy carried his analogy further, as he said:

"As apt and applicable as the Declaration of Independence is today, we would de well to honor the other historic document drafted in this hall, the Constitution of the United States.

"For it stressed not independence, but interdependence; not the individual liberty of one, but the indivisible liberty of all."

But has the Constitution—as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States in recent years—stressed the "interdependence" of the several states of the union, or has it emphasized the dominance of and control of the states by the national government?

First Order of Business

Among Europeans, moreover, this will be interpreted as a forecast by Mr. Kennedy that the "Common Market" organization is the beginning of something patterned after the American union. For later on in the same speech, the President said:

"It would be premature at this time to do more than indicate the high regard with which we view the formation of this partnership. The first order of business is for our European friends to go forward in forming the more perfect union which will someday make this partnership possible. A great new edifice is not built overnight. It was 11 years from the Declaration of Independence to the writing of the Constitution. The construction of workable Federal institutions required still another generation."

Is the President really predicting a United States of Europe with a constitution like that in America? Do the peoples of Europe today have any such idea in mind as they applaud, for economic purposes, the building of the "Common Market"? Do the people of France or Britain, for example, intend respectively to give up their independence and sovereignty as the various states of the American union have been forced to give these up through decisions of the country's highest court? Or is it contemplated that each member country will continue to run its domestic affairs and will simply give up something of its sovereignty insofar as military and foreign policies are concerned?

Plainly, the emphasis in Europe today is on the financial and commercial advantages of a trade union which can deal singly with the United States and other countries on tariffs. But certain countries like Sweden and Switzerland are making it plain they do not mean to go in for any "political association." The idea of a United States of Europe has its champions in all parts of Europe, but the proposal could hardly win a majority vote in any country at this time. In fact, reiteration of prophesies that the "Common Market" is merely the fore-runner of another internal union like that of America means in many quarters the putting up of roadblocks to an indorsement of the "Common Market" organization in various countries, including Great Britain.

A Single Enity

Obviously it is better for America to deal with a single entity in trade matters than with diverse governments. That is why perhaps Mr. Kennedy is boosting unity in all its aspects. He said in his Fourth of July speech:

"We will be prepared to discuss with a united Europe the ways and means of forming a concrete Atlantic partnership, a mutually beneficial partnership between the new union now emerging in Europe and the old American union founded here 175 years ago."

Realistically, however, General de Gaulle for instance, hasn't any notion whatsoever of transferring the sovereignty of France to a political union like that which prevails in America. Nor would any French president or Premier dare to advocate such a course.

External confederation is all that the majority of Europeans have in mind today. Thus, the London Times, in commenting on the Kennedy speech, emphasized the idea of an "alliance" and said the President is seeking "a genuine partnership based on growing equality and shared responsibility." The editorial expressed gratitude that the United States isn't trying in any way "to crab the scheme" of a "Common Market."

For, in truth, the United States doesn't regard the "Common Market" as a rival and wants it to succeed because it can become the basis for a better trade relationship and perhaps even for a stronger military alliance that would relieve America of some of its financial burdens on defense and, especially, the balance-of-payments deficit.

But American policymakers and presidential speechwriters would do better no to place these objectives in jeopardy by painting for Europe the picture of another United States where a written Constitution has gradually been superseded by periodic decisions of the Supreme Court. For once upon a time the 10th Amendment pledged that all rights not specifically delegated to the national government would be "reserved to the states respectively, or to the people." That pledge, however, has been brushed aside by decisions of the court as not in the "public interest." The states are no longer "interdependent." They are dependent colonies of the federal government.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Fifty years ago it would have been outrageous to suggest that the Supreme Court would ever lay it down as the law of the land that it were illegal to open or close classes in a public school with a prayer to God, even specifically, to Jesus Christ.

When I was a child in the only public school in Excelsior, Minn., Mrs. Benton, our teacher in fourth grade, always bowed at the start of the day and led us in The Lord's Prayer. She was a Methodist and most of the population were Protestants and their version was a little different from the Catholic version, but the Catholic children accommodated themselves to this slight schism and our parents just let it go. There was no need to kick up a row. They never thought of appealing to the Supreme Court. We were praying to the same God—the Methodists, Baptists, Congregationalists and Romans, and the intent was the same.

But the Court has decreed that Mrs. Benton's pious conduct would be a violation of the First Amendment today in the part which forbids Congress to enact any law respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. That would be a criminal act and if a latter-day Mrs. Benton should insist on leading a class in this simple prayer, she might be sent to prison. Would that be contempt of the Supreme Court or of some lower Federal court? It could not be a violation of the State law in the case on appeal because the offensive prayer was gotten up by the New York Board of Regents, a body of the State government, and bore the Board's imprimatur.

But I look to that portion of the First Amendment concerning religion and discover that the Supreme Court was absolutely wrong and, I submit, immoral in this decision. Congress did not enact any law contravening that verboten in the First and therefore the Court was out the door on that proposition alone. The Court did not dare find that Congress had enacted an offensive law. That being so, that was the time for the Court to shut its bazoo. But this Court is hostile to wholesome old American ways. It may or may not have jurisdiction over the acts of the New York Board of Regents, but whether it has or not, the fact remains that the First amendment was invoked and it was not violated or even involved in any way. So the Court was wrong.

The Constitution does not forbid the New York Board of Regents to recommend a prayer and the Court is plainly overeager and hostile to the freedom here exercised and nowhere forbidden. This all comes of the nasty, pestiferous heckling of the normal American which is constantly exported from New York boiler-rooms. Last year, it was Freedom Riders and dangerous incitations in such quiet cities as Jackson and Charleston. But when ingenious individuals in Louisiana and Mississippi paid the fares of a few individual colored people up to President Kennedy's home town to embarrass him, that was dirty pool. These excursionists to Hyannisport caused no disorder, but the Northern riders who invaded the South tried to kick up riots which often include knife-work and casualities, possibly fatal. The fact that there were none in Jackson and Charleston was no fault of theirs.

It occurs to me that some patriot with access to a class in some public school might strike a blow for the old American spirit which prevailed in Minnesota when I was a child by rehearsing them in the Lord's Prayer and inciting them to rise and offer it on their own initiative every morning without involving the teacher in a criminal act. The teacher might send them to the principal and the principal might call the cops and have them all arrested for disorderly conduct on public premises. But I think this might dramatize an outrageous situation and provide a means for widespread expression both of piety toward God and contempt for the Supreme Court of the United States both of which sentiments are forward in my spirit at this time.

WELCOME CHALLENGE

The younger generation, as the older generation can attest, is going to the dogs. This is not new; it has been happening since Cain.

What is new is that, if one is inclined to be pessimistic, there are some grounds for believing that the younger generation's not alone.

Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota summed up the situation recently:

"The whole world at the middle of the 20th century is characterized by as much confusion and conflict as at any period in human history. I think it is accurate to say that this is the first time in man's existence on this planet when all continents and cultures, all countries and peoples have been in turmoil at the same time."

Supporting evidence is abundant, and anyone would be hard put to exhaust the list. Africa, Asia, Europe, South America—you name it and there's turmoil. But let's see if we can take a more optimistic view.

True, there has always been trouble. The big difference today, however, is that any disturbance in whatever country has the potential of disrupting the rest of the world. A ripple from Southeast Asia is not only felt in the West; it may be magnified into a tidal wave in its passage.

The reason is technology which has brought instant communications among peoples, enabled tremendous population growth, that has made the resources of one nation necessary to another, that has provided the means for and the ever-present threat of quick and wholesale self-destruction.

Yet having said all this, the fact remains that the world is still here and that it still goes on, and a pretty good argument could be made in favor of the course it is taking.

For one thing, most of the political turmoil is engendered by an unprecedented upsurge among all peoples for a better deal in life, for them and for their children. Though there is danger that they may fall prey to false ideologies, take wrong turnings and destroy much that is good, the urges that impel them are eminently worth-while.

While the outcome of the contest between freedom and slavery is not sure, the very fact that freedom has survived the dark pages of history and is growing is inspiration for the future.

If some of the younger generation are indeed going to the dogs, there is still the fact that others among them are going to the stars.

And if the world really is going to pot, some are not so sure but that the pot may be filled with gold.

At least this much is sure: the clock cannot be turned back to a presumably less troubled time. To wish it could is to give up half the battle and to say that men are incapable of solving their problems.

Most men, fortunately, reject this thinking. Most men gladly accept the challenge of the future.

IT'S UP TO YOU

Each time there is a forest fire in this country, an average of 32 acres of timber are lost—enough to build 75 homes.

The loss cannot be measured in economics or board feet alone. Recreation, wildlife and watershed damage also enter the picture.

Tremendous as this wastage was, however, the 1961 figure was the lowest ever. There were nearly 5,000 fewer fires than in 1960, when 5.5 million acres burned.

SOME CHICKENS!

Nowadays we talk about billions almost as if they were chicken feed. The vast growth of tax collecting and tax spending is largely responsible for that airy attitude.

Next year's federal budget, for instance, will be around $92.5 billion. And one commentator has visualized its magnitude in this fashion:

Suppose you were able to authorize your wife to spend $1,000 per day, ad infinitum. It would take her 277,500 years to spend that $92.5 billion!

To come closer to earth, suppose you were a tightwad and put a meager $1 billion ceiling on her $1,000 a day spending. It would take 3,000 years for her to run through the bankroll.

If billions seem to be chicken feed, about all one can say is: Some chickens!

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WHAT IS COMPULSION?

Dr. Fred Schwarz, on the stattionery of the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade, writes:

'We had anticipated problems and difficulties in New York City, but we did not really understand the magnitude of the obstacles that would confront us. These had to be experienced to be believed. New York was a city of bigotry, boycott and fear. In this city it was considered in many quarters un-American to be an unashamed Christion. If a businesman dared to stand with us, he was faced with the threat of economic boycott, and financial strangulation. Many who agreed wholeheartedly with our methods and ministry were immobilized by fear of economic and social ostracism . . ."

I do not quite understand why it is "bigotry, boycott and fear" not to follow the behests of Dr. Fred Schwarz. What is the compulsion to follow his leadership or to attend his metings? Those who want to go are free to go; those who want to stay away are free to stay away. Is this bigotry?

On the night of his Madison Square Garden meeting, only 8,000 attended, which is a small audience. Some left during the speeches because they found them dull and uninspired; others stayed because they found them interesting and exciting.

The only new face among the speakers was Pat Boone, whse ancestor was Daniel Boone. Pat Boone's greatest contribution to the cause of anti-Communism was his promise to blow up his four daughters if the Communists captured them. Of course, no man would really kill his own daughters, not even a descendant of the doughty Daniel Boone. We must therefore accept his statement as an hyperbole, intended to shock.

When someone on the platform spoke about Lenin meeting Hitler, a friend telephoned me to inquire whether that was possible. I said that he must have heard wrong. He swore that that was what a speaker said. I still believed that it must have been a slip of the tongue. The dates are wrong. No! Virginia, I never met George Washington. He was no longer around when I was born!

The time for this kind of talk has long since pssed. The existence of Marxism in this world is a question of war. Soviet Russia is the Marxist enemy and unless we can fight and destroy Soviet Russia, it will fight and destroy us. As a matter of fact, this battle has been continuous since 1948. Soviet Russia's major recent victory was the conquest of Cuba, because that gave Russia a base 90 miles from the coast of the United States.

While these Schwarzites were busy themselves with the same speeches we all made in the 1930's, the Russian spy, Soblen, escaped from this country. Undoubtedly, this can ultimately lead to another exposure of Soviet espionage, for it is absolutely clear that Soblen could not have made such a smooth escape without assistance. The New York officials of the Federal government ought to be held responsible for Soblen's escape. He was free in $100,000 bail but jumped it. How does it happen that a spy is freed in so little bail? What civil liberties question was involved to justify putting up the bail on the ground of civil liberties?

I make this point because public officials, like private orators, have not yet adjusted their minds to the warlike character of the present phase of our relations with Soviet Russia. Every Communist must be regarded as a hateful agent of Soviet Russia, but there are more spies than there are Communists. The espionage network in this country ought to be brought to the surface and spies should be imprisoned.

This has nothing to do with fear. It has much to do with common sense. It has nothing to do with boycott, although I am sure that boycott is a most wholesome response to public activities For instance, I boycott Polish hams. We in the United States, produce all the hams we require. I have no intention of buying the goods of anybody whom I dislike. There are other goods to buy.

It has now become established by law that to call a man a Communist, unless he admits it, is libellous. That is a misunderstanding of Communism. It is all right to refer to man as a Republican, a Democrat, a Nazi, or even an S.O.B. Well, don't call him anything — just boycott him.

★ The Doctor Says ★

Follow to the Letter Doctor's Coronary Advice

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Earlier I outlined the steps leading to development of the dreaded coronary attack and listed the ways in which nature and your doctor try to prevent and treat these seizures.

Of the methods for prevention and treatment, use of anti-coagulant drugs alone poses a threat that, fortunately, may be lessened if not entirely prevented through your understanding and cooperation. Here are some of the most important facts you must know if you are to help your doctor help you:

1—A sudden cessation of anticoagulant dosage may cause the clotting time to rebound and thus favor an almost immediate tendency to recurrent thrombosis. Therefore, do not interrupt or discontinue taking your medication without your doctor's permission and under his guidance.

2—Continuation of the correct anticoagulant doses may result in abnormal bleeding when any operative procedure is attempted. So notify your doctor before you consult a surgical specialist or a dentist.

Then, when you arrive at the specialist's office, let him know that you are taking an anticoagulant so that he may consult with your doctor before he proceeds with what he plans to do.

3—Blood clotting and the dose of anticoagulant may be affected by any number of bodily and external circumstances. Therefore the preferred dose for you is a variable and not a constant.

That is why your doctor will want to see you regularly, and why he will be required to take frequent blood tests.

To emphasize the importance of these repeated tests, a team at the Mayo Clinic has just reported their experiences with long-term use of anticoagulants. Studying 139 separate periods of long-term treatment, they found abnormal bleeding in more than one-third of their patients, especially those who were hypertensives.

Thrombotic complications occurred in less than 10 per cent of those who continue with their drug. But, in those who stopped medication, the incidence rose to 17 per cent.

So, you see, treatment with anticoagulants has its dangers. To obtain the benefits, you must realize that the price of safety is vigilance.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — No matter what kind of tax law Congress comes up with for next year there is news for taxpayers this year in the Internal Revenue Service moderization program now being carried out by Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin.

He used to be a tax consultant and professor of tax law at University of Virginia. Now he's putting some of his theories into practice. He's very conscious of the cloud of having a "Big Brother" government watching over everything a taxpayer does or doesn't do, and catching him up. So the emphasis is on trying to humanize tax collecting and get more voluntary compliance from taxpayers.

ONE OF THE CURRENT PROGRAMS is to get all tax returns numbered so that the electronic data processing system now being set up can handle the 78 million individual and corporate tax returns now filed every year. Heartless machines won't collect the taxes. But they'll do much of the work in checking them and catching discrepancies.

Ninety per cent of the individuals filing tax returns put their Social Security numbers on their returns now. To the 10 per cent who don't a letter will soon go out, asking them, in a nice way, how come?

One of these letters sent out on a trial run came back the other day with this postscript:

Dear Mr. Caplin: This is a very clear, graceful, friendly, intelligent letter. It is a pleasure to receive such a communication from the federal government. Whoever wrote it did a good job.

—Yours sincerely, Rebecca Davis."

Caplin thinks this is progress.

TAXPAYERS WHO AREN'T under Social Security will be asked to file application for a number to be put on next year's return. Numbers will also be assigned to corporations.

Numbers have become essential because there are so many people having similar names—scattered all over the country or living in the same apartment. It's necessary to give 'em all numbers to tell 'em apart.

Last November, IRS opened its new National Computer Center at Martinsburg, W. Va. By 1966 it is hoped to have data on all 78 million tax returns on 400 miles of magnetic tape. Income tax return information will first be put on punch cards at nine IRS regional offices. The card data will then be automatically transferred to tape for Martinsburg.

The ADP—automatic data processing—center at Atlanta is already functioning. Philadelphia will begin operations next year. Cincinnati, Dallas, Omaha and Boston will be opened in 1964. Chicago, New York and San Francisco in 1965. It will take two years to complete the punch card operation, by 2,000 employes at each ADP center. Business returns will be punched the first year, individual returns the second.

This information is now scattered in 62 IRS district offices. If a taxpayer moves from one district to another, it now takes four or five years to check on whether he filed a return from both addresses. With all 78 million records on tape in Martinsburg, checking up on migrant taxpayers will be comparatively easy.

AT FIRST IT WON'T BE POSSIBLE to punch buttons and get data on any of the 78 million returns. But the electronic brains will be told, for example, "Give us all discrepancies in the state of New York." Out they'll come.

Last year Internal Revenue Service received $90.9 billion from voluntary tax payments and collected another $3.5 billion by enforcement. Treasury estimates that $24.4 billion in income was not reported. This resulted in a loss of $5 billion to the government. With the ADP system in full operation by 1966, it will be easier to track down some of these dodged taxes and collect them.

Caplin calls this "the biggest breakthrough in tax collecting since 1913." That was when the 16th Amendment to the Constitution empowered Congress to lay and collect taxes on income "from whatever source derived."

Europe Ponders JFK Talk: What Kind of a Federation?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

GENEVA — President Kennedy's address at Independence Hall on July 4 was a bit confusing to Europeans. They couldn't tell whether he was forecasting a United States of Europe along the lines of his own country or whether, despite a loose use of words, he was trying to indicate that Europe might well have a federation or alliance as each country retained its sovereignty.

Mr. Kennedy was on firm ground as he extolled the idea of independence and as he rejoiced in the recently intensified movement away from colonialism throughout the world. He was logical, too, when he spoke of a declaration of "interdependence," for this concept means a "partnership" or strengthened alliance as between Europe and America.

The puzzlement developed, however, when Mr. Kennedy carried his analogy further, as he said:

"As apt and applicable as the Declaration of Independence is today, we would de well to honor the other historic document drafted in this hall, the Constitution of the United States.

"For it stressed not independence, but interdependence; not the individual liberty of one, but the indivisible liberty of all."

But has the Constitution—as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States in recent years—stressed the "interdependence" of the several states of the union, or has it emphasized the dominance of and control of the states by the national government?

First Order of Business

Among Europeans, moreover, this will be interpreted as a forecast by Mr. Kennedy that the "Common Market" organization is the beginning of something patterned after the American union. For later on in the same speech, the President said:

"It would be premature at this time to do more than indicate the high regard with which we view the formation of this partnership. The first order of business is for our European friends to go forward in forming the more perfect union which will someday make this partnership possible. A great new edifice is not built overnight. It was 11 years from the Declaration of Independence to the writing of the Constitution. The construction of workable Federal institutions required still another generation."

Is the President really predicting a United States of Europe with a constitution like that in America? Do the peoples of Europe today have any such idea in mind as they applaud, for economic purposes, the building of the "Common Market"? Do the people of France or Britain, for example, intend respectively to give up their independence and sovereignty as the various states of the American union have been forced to give these up through decisions of the country's highest court? Or is it contemplated that each member country will continue to run its domestic affairs and will simply give up something of its sovereignty insofar as military and foreign policies are concerned?

Plainly, the emphasis in Europe today is on the financial and commercial advantages of a trade union which can deal singly with the United States and other countries on tariffs. But certain countries like Sweden and Switzerland are making it plain they do not mean to go in for any "political association." The idea of a United States of Europe has its champions in all parts of Europe, but the proposal could hardly win a majority vote in any country at this time. In fact, reiteration of prophesies that the "Common Market" is merely the fore-runner of another internal union like that of America means in many quarters the putting up of roadblocks to an indorsement of the "Common Market" organization in various countries, including Great Britain.

A Single Enity

Obviously it is better for America to deal with a single entity in trade matters than with diverse governments. That is why perhaps Mr. Kennedy is boosting unity in all its aspects. He said in his Fourth of July speech:

"We will be prepared to discuss with a united Europe the ways and means of forming a concrete Atlantic partnership, a mutually beneficial partnership between the new union now emerging in Europe and the old American union founded here 175 years ago."

Realistically, however, General de Gaulle for instance, hasn't any notion whatsoever of transferring the sovereignty of France to a political union like that which prevails in America. Nor would any French president or Premier dare to advocate such a course.

External confederation is all that the majority of Europeans have in mind today. Thus, the London Times, in commenting on the Kennedy speech, emphasized the idea of an "alliance" and said the President is seeking "a genuine partnership based on growing equality and shared responsibility." The editorial expressed gratitude that the United States isn't trying in any way "to crab the scheme" of a "Common Market."

For, in truth, the United States doesn't regard the "Common Market" as a rival and wants it to succeed because it can become the basis for a better trade relationship and perhaps even for a stronger military alliance that would relieve America of some of its financial burdens on defense and, especially, the balance-of-payments deficit.

But American policymakers and presidential speechwriters would do better no to place these objectives in jeopardy by painting for Europe the picture of another United States where a written Constitution has gradually been superseded by periodic decisions of the Supreme Court. For once upon a time the 10th Amendment pledged that all rights not specifically delegated to the national government would be "reserved to the states respectively, or to the people." That pledge, however, has been brushed aside by decisions of the court as not in the "public interest." The states are no longer "interdependent." They are dependent colonies of the federal government.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Fifty years ago it would have been outrageous to suggest that the Supreme Court would ever lay it down as the law of the land that it were illegal to open or close classes in a public school with a prayer to God, even specifically, to Jesus Christ.

When I was a child in the only public school in Excelsior, Minn., Mrs. Benton, our teacher in fourth grade, always bowed at the start of the day and led us in The Lord's Prayer. She was a Methodist and most of the population were Protestants and their version was a little different from the Catholic version, but the Catholic children accommodated themselves to this slight schism and our parents just let it go. There was no need to kick up a row. They never thought of appealing to the Supreme Court. We were praying to the same God—the Methodists, Baptists, Congregationalists and Romans, and the intent was the same.

But the Court has decreed that Mrs. Benton's pious conduct would be a violation of the First Amendment today in the part which forbids Congress to enact any law respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. That would be a criminal act and if a latter-day Mrs. Benton should insist on leading a class in this simple prayer, she might be sent to prison. Would that be contempt of the Supreme Court or of some lower Federal court? It could not be a violation of the State law in the case on appeal because the offensive prayer was gotten up by the New York Board of Regents, a body of the State government, and bore the Board's imprimatur.

But I look to that portion of the First Amendment concerning religion and discover that the Supreme Court was absolutely wrong and, I submit, immoral in this decision. Congress did not enact any law contravening that verboten in the First and therefore the Court was out the door on that proposition alone. The Court did not dare find that Congress had enacted an offensive law. That being so, that was the time for the Court to shut its bazoo. But this Court is hostile to wholesome old American ways. It may or may not have jurisdiction over the acts of the New York Board of Regents, but whether it has or not, the fact remains that the First amendment was invoked and it was not violated or even involved in any way. So the Court was wrong.

The Constitution does not forbid the New York Board of Regents to recommend a prayer and the Court is plainly overeager and hostile to the freedom here exercised and nowhere forbidden. This all comes of the nasty, pestiferous heckling of the normal American which is constantly exported from New York boiler-rooms. Last year, it was Freedom Riders and dangerous incitations in such quiet cities as Jackson and Charleston. But when ingenious individuals in Louisiana and Mississippi paid the fares of a few individual colored people up to President Kennedy's home town to embarrass him, that was dirty pool. These excursionists to Hyannisport caused no disorder, but the Northern riders who invaded the South tried to kick up riots which often include knife-work and casualities, possibly fatal. The fact that there were none in Jackson and Charleston was no fault of theirs.

It occurs to me that some patriot with access to a class in some public school might strike a blow for the old American spirit which prevailed in Minnesota when I was a child by rehearsing them in the Lord's Prayer and inciting them to rise and offer it on their own initiative every morning without involving the teacher in a criminal act. The teacher might send them to the principal and the principal might call the cops and have them all arrested for disorderly conduct on public premises. But I think this might dramatize an outrageous situation and provide a means for widespread expression both of piety toward God and contempt for the Supreme Court of the United States both of which sentiments are forward in my spirit at this time.

Dairy Leader Has Fear Dryness May Up Milk Prices

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A lack of rain is worrying New York State farmers and one dairy leader says a continued dry spell could result in higher milk prices by late summer or early fall.

The hay crop has suffered most from the prolonged dry weather. Most other crops are bearing up well, however, a State Agriculture Department said Thursday.

Not Much Hope

R.E. Vanderwood, manager of the Albany office of the 17,000-member Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, said:

"If the farmers don't get relief soon, it could affect (milk) prices this fall, or even in the late summer."

Asked if he meant prices might rise substantially, he said "yes." He declined, however, to elaborate.

"Many farmers now are feeding with their year's hay crop in order to maintain production," he said. "This means they will be short of forage next winter if this continues."

Down 10 Per Cent

A Dairyman's League spokesman said milk production in the state is down 10 per cent from the April-July period in 1961.

Farmers who have taken their cows off dried-up pastures are supplying less milk than they did last year.

Norman C. Kidder, Albany County Extension Service agent, said the dry period was "the worst I've experienced in 14 years here."

He said there was fields of hay "burned to a crisp that ordinarily by this time would have produced a second cutting."

In Syracuse, James Speer, president of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association, said many sections of New York and Pennsylvania apparently were headed for a "full-blown drought."

Sufficient rainfall has been received in Western New York to sustain crops of cherries, beets, beans, apples and oats, the Weather Bureau said.

Areas Listed

Syracuse, 3.53 inches below; Binghamton, 5.27 below; Watertown and Massena, 2.91 below; Albany 3.09 below; New York City 2.34 below.

Woodlands are dry, but the Conservation Department says it has no plans to close any state parks or establish any large-scale reduction in the use of water. Some communities have been asked to conserve it, however, a department spokesman said.

Buckley Pledged

through the Brotherhood Party last year to reelect Wagner and to elect Joseph F. Periconi, a Republican, as Bronx borough president. Periconi was elected over a Buckley-supported candidate.

Doubts Support

Councilman Joseph C. Di Carlo, coordinator of Wagner's Bronx Democratic Reorganization Committee, later commented:

"I doubt very much if the union leaders present at today's luncheon live in the Bronx or the 23rd Congressional District. The average person in the Bronx is against Buckley no matter how many big names are wheeled into the county."

Spankings Carried Out

WHITING, Ind. (AP)—Three youths, among nine who were given unusual punishments Thursday by City Judge William Obermiller, were spanked by two policemen and a bailiff.

Each youth got 15 solid whacks, as ordered by the judge. They stood before the judge as the policemen and a court bailiff administered the spankings with their hands on the seats of the teenagers' pants.

Some 250 persons who jammed the courtroom witnessed the spankings given to Steve Shorr, 16; Peter Welcome, 17; and James Hunt, 16. They, with Daniel M. Cardona, 15, had been convicted of drinking beer and brandy at the Whiting Beach on June 18.

'H-Bomb' Test Due in Nevada

CAMP MERCURY, Nev. (AP) —The first hydrogen bomb type blast ever set off in the United States—and the most powerful of the current underground series—is all set to rock the Nevada test site today.

And that's only the beginning.

Saturday the Atomic Energy Commission will try to detonate the first above-ground weapon exploded here since 1958—the beginning of a new series of atmospheric tests.

The new flurry of activity at this desert proving ground coincided with the recent resumption of testing in the Pacific and with announcement of plans to lob a dummy warhead 7,000 miles into the Philippine Sea from Vandenberg Air Force Base next week.

Although there has been no official announcement, military-minded observers linked the coincidences with this nation's current show of force in the Far East.

Today's blast, which the AEC described as "in the 100-kiloton range," ostensibly had a peaceful goal—demonstrating how nuclear explosions eventually can gouge out new harbors and canals at a fraction of the cost of today's best earth-moving equipment.

Food Riots Add

Long lines of housewives have formed in front of Rio stores this week as food supplies dwindled. Early this week 20 persons were injured in a food riot in the suburb of Niteroi.

Less Effective Elsewhere

Army troops already had been alerted for trouble during the general strike, which virtually shut down Rio. No planes, buses, trains or ferries moved. Most industries, banks, offices and shops were shut tight.

The strike was less effective in other cities. The stoppage originally had been called to protest the naming of Sen. Auro de Moura Andrade, a conservative, as prime minister instead of a member of Goulart's Brazilian labor party.

After only 36 hours in office, Andrade quit on the eve of the strike, reportedly in a dispute with Goulart over the selection of navy and air force ministers for the new cabinet. Despite the resignation, the union leaders went ahead with the strike to try to pressure Parliament into naming a member of Goulart's party to the prime minister's job.

LONDON (AP)—Judy Garland, injured in a fall in her bath tub, was reported today to be well on her way to recovery. She cut her head in the fall.

The actress was injured Wednesday night after she had returned to her hotel from filming.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a fairly sharp loss early this afternoon after five straight sessions in which advances outnumbered declines. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 2.30 to 214.50 with industrials off 4.30, rails off .80, and utilities off .70.

Key stocks were down from fractions to about 2 points. The volatile "growth" stocks were down considerably more.

Profit taking on the market's rebound from its 1962 lows was the reason given by brokers for the retreat.

Normal preweekend caution lent emphasis to the selling as traders don't like to be out on a limb with the possibility of unexpected news and with markets closed.

The retreat was general, taking in steels, motors, rails, oils, chemicals, tobaccos, electrical equipments aerospace issues and the savings-and-loan stocks which rallied sharply Thursday.

The list declined from the start and, after making its lows late in the morning, came back a little.

Among the savings-and-loan holding companies, Financial Federation was down a couple of points while losses of around a point were shown by United Financial of California, First Charter Financial and Trans-World Financial.

Tax Slash Is . . .

of the world gets poorer," Kennedy said. "We want the benefits of this kind of union to be shared."

Would this lead to some kind of political union between the United States and Europe?

It depends on how you define political, Kenney said. North Atlantic allies already have political commitments to each other, he said, and these may take on "a more intimate form."

Inevitably, homegrown politics and Democratic administration's relations with business came up in the half-hour conference. Kennedy said "an awful lot of businessmen" have supported the Democratic party, even though he agreed his party "is not the party of business." Asked what he thought of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's description of Republicans as the party of business, Kennedy replied with amusement:

"Well, I think, as I said, I dislike disagreeing with President Eisenhower, and so I won't in this case."

On other matters, Kennedy offered these comments:

Other Subjects

Legislation—He opened the conference with strong appeals to Congress to pass his foreign aid and medical care measures. Assistance programs "are vital to our security," he said. On medical care for the elderly—in view of the fact that doctors' fees are not included in his proposal and the government already helps build hospitals, Kennedy said he found the American Medical Association's "extreme hostility to this bill somewhat incomprehensible."

Sugar Lobby — Kennedy called lobbying by foreign sugar interests to secure quotas for sales in this country "an unfortunate situation." Legislation already passed and amendments just introduced will gradually minimize quotas and produce less lobbying, he said "and I think we ought to have less of it."

Soviet Union—The United States is attempting to reduce the chance of conflict with the Soviet Union in a variety of ways and to maintain its own security and peace of the Free World, he said. "That is the object of our policy."

Nuclear Policy—Contrary to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's aggressive charge, Kennedy found Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was constructive in a recent speech advocating the restriction of atomic war to military targets and discouraging the creation of new, independent nuclear forces—as by France. The United States, Kennedy said, feels a nuclear force under NATO protects Western Europe.

Up to Candidates

Campaigns — Deciding whether to campaign only for Democrats who have supported his major programs or for all who want him should not cause a problem, Kennedy speculated, since those who want him to campaign have generally backed him in Congress. He declined to offer advice to California Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who is opposed for re-election by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Civil Rights—Kennedy said he will follow through on a campaign promise to issue an executive order against racial discrimination in federally aided housing "when we think it will be a useful and appropriate time."

Shelters — Kennedy urged Congress to act this year on an extensive fallout shelter program.

Japan — The United States has encouraged Japan and other countries to invest in business enterprises here, he said, particularly in areas of high unemployment. Heavy U.S. investments overseas have helped upset the balance of payments, he said, and the purpose is to bring matching foreign capital to this country.

Has Year to Live

A spokesman at Hillingdon Hospital, where Soblen's life was saved by blood transfusions, said that his condition continues to improve and that he had a comfortable night.

Whether Soblen escapes prison or not, his doctors have said he has only about a year to live anyway as he suffers from leukemia, cancer of the blood.

Two of Soblen's lawyers, Elwyn Jones and Peter Solomon, went to the home of Justice Mocatta in suburban St. John's Wood and obtained a writ to block attempts to move him.

The judge's action is believed to be unprecedented in British legal history. Officially, Soblen has not been admitted to Britain. His status is regarded by the home office as in transit, a move designed to avoid involved deportation proceedings.

Soblen jumped $100,000 bail and fled to Israel last week on a forged Canadian passport.

The over-all accident toll in the period from 6 p.m. Tuesday and midnight, Wednesday, was 255. In addition to traffic deaths, 16 persons died in boating accidents, 55 persons drowned and 38 persons were killed in miscellaneous accidents.

Jail Area Youth On Three Counts In Lieu of Fines

An 18-year-old Freehold youth was committed to Greene County Jail Thursday night in lieu of $140 fines imposed after he pleaded guilty to three motor vehicle charges.

Richard Bailey, of Pleasant View Lodge, Freehold, was charged with driving an unregistered motor vehicle, having no proof of insurance and failing to keep to the right as the result of a motor vehicle accident.

Bailey was treated at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, for bruises of the right shoulder. A passenger in his car, Noel Pickering, 18, of 251-10 Northern Boulevard, Little Neck, L. I., suffered a fractured jaw, a fractured left arm and ribs and shoulder injuries. He was admitted at the hospital.

According to Leeds state police, Bailey was driving a car north on Sunside Road, Town of Durham, when he lost control. The car veered off the west shoulder of the highway and overturned.

Bailey was arraigned before Town of Durham Justice of the Peace Timothy Conway. He was fined $100 on the insurance violation, $25 for driving an unregistered motor vehicle and $15 for failing to keep to the right.

Red Hook Tables Petition

A petition signed by 221 persons urging the reappointment of Melvin Jones, former Red Hook Village police chief, has been tabled by the village board, according to Mayor Oliver Rider of that village. Jones resigned as a part-time patrolman while under fire by the village board in May. The trustees gave no indication when the board would consider the petition.

Three Injured as Car Forced Off Route 199

Three persons were injured shortly after 5 p. m. Thursday, when the car in which they were riding was forced off Route 199, Town of Milan, and crashed head on into a utility pole.

Rhinebeck State Police told The Freeman, Istvan Juhasz, 36, of 131 Livingston Street, New Haven, Conn., was driving west on Route 199 when at a point east of the Taconic State Parkway an unidentified vehicle forced his car off the highway.

Juhasz suffered severe lacerations of the left arm. His wife, Anna, received severe lacerations of the face and forehead and abrasions and contusions of the body. Another passenger, John Lipdak, 58, of Mill Pond Road, New Haven, received severe lacerations of the face, possible back injuries and abrasions and contusions of the body.

The injured were treated at the scene by Dr. W. Wicks, of Pine Plains, and later taken to the Northern Dutchess Hospital, Rhinebeck. Mr. and Mrs. Juhasz were released after treatment. Lipdak was admitted for X-ray examination and further medical attention.

Hyde Park Man Held for Jury On Weapon Count

A 24-year-old Hyde Park man was in the Ulster County jail today awaiting action of the grand jury on a charge of illegal possession of a billy club, according to Highland State Police.

Troopers said Bert Forstrom, of Hyde Park, was driving his 1957 car along Route 44-55 between the Highland traffic circle and the Mid-Hudson Bridge at about 1:20 a. m. today when the vehicle crashed into a rock embankment.

Forstrom received lacerations of the lips and abrasions of the knees. Troopers said the motorist refused medical attention.

Search of Forstrom's car revealed a billy club, troopers said. Forstrom was arraigned before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus. He waived preliminary examination and was committed to jail pending grand jury action.

According to troopers, Forstrom has a previous conviction for burglary, and he was booked on a felony charge.

Investment Club Penalty For Any Withdrawals

Q) "Our investment club consists of twelve members, each of whom contributed $100 at our first meeting and $10 per month thereafter. If a member wishes to withdraw from the club, our constitution provides that he be penalized 1 per cent of his total club dollar value plus any expense in selling shares to provide the necessary cash for his withdrawal. In later years, this might penalize the withdrawing member excessively. Can you suggest a more realistic formula for withdrawal?" G. C.

A) I think you're concerned about something that's really of very little importance except psychologically.

If the dollar value of an individual's membership ran up to $10,000 his 1 per cent penalty for withdrawal would amount to only $100. I don't believe your 1 per cent penalty is sufficient to act as a deterrent, but I can see that it might be an irritant. Although some clubs I know exact a penalty similar to yours, the majority simply charge the withdrawing member the actual expenses (tax and commission) of liquidating his prorata ownership.

Q) "I am interested in an electric utility and a bank stock—both for income and moderate growth. Have considered Union Electric of Missouri, Long Island Lighting, New York State Gas & Electric, and Marine Midland. What do you think of these stocks?" C. R.

I think very well of all of them.

Marine Midland is actually a holding company controlling banks in New York State. The shares are an excellent holding for 4 per cent income and gradual appreciation.

Your suggested utilities all offer a high degree of security. The major difference is in the yields, which are determined by the rate of growth which the market expects for each. Union Electric, rather slow, yields 4.3 per cent. New York State Electric & Gas, average growth, returns 4 per cent. Fast growing Long Island Lighting brings only 3.7 per cent at recent levels. Personally, I'd pick the latter, unless higher income were really vital.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Dairy Leader Has Fear Dryness May Up Milk Prices

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A lack of rain is worrying New York State farmers and one dairy leader says a continued dry spell could result in higher milk prices by late summer or early fall.

The hay crop has suffered most from the prolonged dry weather. Most other crops are bearing up well, however, a State Agriculture Department said Thursday.

Not Much Hope

R.E. Vanderwood, manager of the Albany office of the 17,000-member Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, said:

"If the farmers don't get relief soon, it could affect (milk) prices this fall, or even in the late summer."

Asked if he meant prices might rise substantially, he said "yes." He declined, however, to elaborate.

"Many farmers now are feeding with their year's hay crop in order to maintain production," he said. "This means they will be short of forage next winter if this continues."

Down 10 Per Cent

A Dairyman's League spokesman said milk production in the state is down 10 per cent from the April-July period in 1961.

Farmers who have taken their cows off dried-up pastures are supplying less milk than they did last year.

Norman C. Kidder, Albany County Extension Service agent, said the dry period was "the worst I've experienced in 14 years here."

He said there was fields of hay "burned to a crisp that ordinarily by this time would have produced a second cutting."

In Syracuse, James Speer, president of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association, said many sections of New York and Pennsylvania apparently were headed for a "full-blown drought."

Sufficient rainfall has been received in Western New York to sustain crops of cherries, beets, beans, apples and oats, the Weather Bureau said.

Areas Listed

Syracuse, 3.53 inches below; Binghamton, 5.27 below; Watertown and Massena, 2.91 below; Albany 3.09 below; New York City 2.34 below.

Woodlands are dry, but the Conservation Department says it has no plans to close any state parks or establish any large-scale reduction in the use of water. Some communities have been asked to conserve it, however, a department spokesman said.

through the Brotherhood Party last year to reelect Wagner and to elect Joseph F. Periconi, a Republican, as Bronx borough president. Periconi was elected over a Buckley-supported candidate.

Doubts Support

Councilman Joseph C. Di Carlo, coordinator of Wagner's Bronx Democratic Reorganization Committee, later commented:

"I doubt very much if the union leaders present at today's luncheon live in the Bronx or the 23rd Congressional District. The average person in the Bronx is against Buckley no matter how many big names are wheeled into the county."

Spankings Carried Out

WHITING, Ind. (AP)—Three youths, among nine who were given unusual punishments Thursday by City Judge William Obermiller, were spanked by two policemen and a bailiff.

Each youth got 15 solid whacks, as ordered by the judge. They stood before the judge as the policemen and a court bailiff administered the spankings with their hands on the seats of the teenagers' pants.

Some 250 persons who jammed the courtroom witnessed the spankings given to Steve Shorr, 16; Peter Welcome, 17; and James Hunt, 16. They, with Daniel M. Cardona, 15, had been convicted of drinking beer and brandy at the Whiting Beach on June 18.

'H-Bomb' Test Due in Nevada

CAMP MERCURY, Nev. (AP) —The first hydrogen bomb type blast ever set off in the United States—and the most powerful of the current underground series—is all set to rock the Nevada test site today.

And that's only the beginning.

Saturday the Atomic Energy Commission will try to detonate the first above-ground weapon exploded here since 1958—the beginning of a new series of atmospheric tests.

The new flurry of activity at this desert proving ground coincided with the recent resumption of testing in the Pacific and with announcement of plans to lob a dummy warhead 7,000 miles into the Philippine Sea from Vandenberg Air Force Base next week.

Although there has been no official announcement, military-minded observers linked the coincidences with this nation's current show of force in the Far East.

Today's blast, which the AEC described as "in the 100-kiloton range," ostensibly had a peaceful goal—demonstrating how nuclear explosions eventually can gouge out new harbors and canals at a fraction of the cost of today's best earth-moving equipment.

Food Riots Add

Long lines of housewives have formed in front of Rio stores this week as food supplies dwindled. Early this week 20 persons were injured in a food riot in the suburb of Niteroi.

Less Effective Elsewhere

Army troops already had been alerted for trouble during the general strike, which virtually shut down Rio. No planes, buses, trains or ferries moved. Most industries, banks, offices and shops were shut tight.

The strike was less effective in other cities. The stoppage originally had been called to protest the naming of Sen. Auro de Moura Andrade, a conservative, as prime minister instead of a member of Goulart's Brazilian labor party.

After only 36 hours in office, Andrade quit on the eve of the strike, reportedly in a dispute with Goulart over the selection of navy and air force ministers for the new cabinet. Despite the resignation, the union leaders went ahead with the strike to try to pressure Parliament into naming a member of Goulart's party to the prime minister's job.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a fairly sharp loss early this afternoon after five straight sessions in which advances outnumbered declines. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 2.30 to 214.50 with industrials off 4.30, rails off .80, and utilities off .70.

Key stocks were down from fractions to about 2 points. The volatile "growth" stocks were down considerably more.

Profit taking on the market's rebound from its 1962 lows was the reason given by brokers for the retreat.

Normal preweekend caution lent emphasis to the selling as traders don't like to be out on a limb with the possibility of unexpected news and with markets closed.

The retreat was general, taking in steels, motors, rails, oils, chemicals, tobaccos, electrical equipments aerospace issues and the savings-and-loan stocks which rallied sharply Thursday.

The list declined from the start and, after making its lows late in the morning, came back a little.

Among the savings-and-loan holding companies, Financial Federation was down a couple of points while losses of around a point were shown by United Financial of California, First Charter Financial and Trans-World Financial.

Tax Slash Is . . .

of the world gets poorer," Kennedy said. "We want the benefits of this kind of union to be shared."

Would this lead to some kind of political union between the United States and Europe?

It depends on how you define political, Kenney said. North Atlantic allies already have political commitments to each other, he said, and these may take on "a more intimate form."

Inevitably, homegrown politics and Democratic administration's relations with business came up in the half-hour conference. Kennedy said "an awful lot of businessmen" have supported the Democratic party, even though he agreed his party "is not the party of business." Asked what he thought of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's description of Republicans as the party of business, Kennedy replied with amusement:

"Well, I think, as I said, I dislike disagreeing with President Eisenhower, and so I won't in this case."

On other matters, Kennedy offered these comments:

Other Subjects

Legislation—He opened the conference with strong appeals to Congress to pass his foreign aid and medical care measures. Assistance programs "are vital to our security," he said. On medical care for the elderly—in view of the fact that doctors' fees are not included in his proposal and the government already helps build hospitals, Kennedy said he found the American Medical Association's "extreme hostility to this bill somewhat incomprehensible."

Sugar Lobby — Kennedy called lobbying by foreign sugar interests to secure quotas for sales in this country "an unfortunate situation." Legislation already passed and amendments just introduced will gradually minimize quotas and produce less lobbying, he said "and I think we ought to have less of it."

Soviet Union—The United States is attempting to reduce the chance of conflict with the Soviet Union in a variety of ways and to maintain its own security and peace of the Free World, he said. "That is the object of our policy."

Nuclear Policy—Contrary to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's aggressive charge, Kennedy found Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was constructive in a recent speech advocating the restriction of atomic war to military targets and discouraging the creation of new, independent nuclear forces—as by France. The United States, Kennedy said, feels a nuclear force under NATO protects Western Europe.

Up to Candidates

Campaigns — Deciding whether to campaign only for Democrats who have supported his major programs or for all who want him should not cause a problem, Kennedy speculated, since those who want him to campaign have generally backed him in Congress. He declined to offer advice to California Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who is opposed for re-election by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Civil Rights—Kennedy said he will follow through on a campaign promise to issue an executive order against racial discrimination in federally aided housing "when we think it will be a useful and appropriate time."

Shelters — Kennedy urged Congress to act this year on an extensive fallout shelter program.

Japan — The United States has encouraged Japan and other countries to invest in business enterprises here, he said, particularly in areas of high unemployment. Heavy U.S. investments overseas have helped upset the balance of payments, he said, and the purpose is to bring matching foreign capital to this country.

in American courts against a life sentence failed. He was expelled by the Israel government.

Has Year to Live

A spokesman at Hillingdon Hospital, where Soblen's life was saved by blood transfusions, said that his condition continues to improve and that he had a comfortable night.

Whether Soblen escapes prison or not, his doctors have said he has only about a year to live anyway as he suffers from leukemia, cancer of the blood.

Two of Soblen's lawyers, Elwyn Jones and Peter Solomon, went to the home of Justice Mocatta in suburban St. John's Wood and obtained a writ to block attempts to move him.

The judge's action is believed to be unprecedented in British legal history. Officially, Soblen has not been admitted to Britain. His status is regarded by the home office as in transit, a move designed to avoid involved deportation proceedings.

Soblen jumped $100,000 bail and fled to Israel last week on a forged Canadian passport.

The over-all accident toll in the period from 6 p.m. Tuesday and midnight, Wednesday, was 255. In addition to traffic deaths, 16 persons died in boating accidents, 55 persons drowned and 38 persons were killed in miscellaneous accidents.

Jail Area Youth On Three Counts In Lieu of Fines

An 18-year-old Freehold youth was committed to Greene County Jail Thursday night in lieu of $140 fines imposed after he pleaded guilty to three motor vehicle charges.

Richard Bailey, of Pleasant View Lodge, Freehold, was charged with driving an unregistered motor vehicle, having no proof of insurance and failing to keep to the right as the result of a motor vehicle accident.

Bailey was treated at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, for bruises of the right shoulder. A passenger in his car, Noel Pickering, 18, of 251-10 Northern Boulevard, Little Neck, L. I., suffered a fractured jaw, a fractured left arm and ribs and shoulder injuries. He was admitted at the hospital.

According to Leeds state police, Bailey was driving a car north on Sunside Road, Town of Durham, when he lost control. The car veered off the west shoulder of the highway and overturned.

Bailey was arraigned before Town of Durham Justice of the Peace Timothy Conway. He was fined $100 on the insurance violation, $25 for driving an unregistered motor vehicle and $15 for failing to keep to the right.

Red Hook Tables Petition

A petition signed by 221 persons urging the reappointment of Melvin Jones, former Red Hook Village police chief, has been tabled by the village board, according to Mayor Oliver Rider of that village. Jones resigned as a part-time patrolman while under fire by the village board in May. The trustees gave no indication when the board would consider the petition.

Three Injured as Car Forced Off Route 199

Three persons were injured shortly after 5 p. m. Thursday, when the car in which they were riding was forced off Route 199, Town of Milan, and crashed head on into a utility pole.

Rhinebeck State Police told The Freeman, Istvan Juhasz, 36, of 131 Livingston Street, New Haven, Conn., was driving west on Route 199 when at a point east of the Taconic State Parkway an unidentified vehicle forced his car off the highway.

Juhasz suffered severe lacerations of the left arm. His wife, Anna, received severe lacerations of the face and forehead and abrasions and contusions of the body. Another passenger, John Lipdak, 58, of Mill Pond Road, New Haven, received severe lacerations of the face, possible back injuries and abrasions and contusions of the body.

The injured were treated at the scene by Dr. W. Wicks, of Pine Plains, and later taken to the Northern Dutchess Hospital, Rhinebeck. Mr. and Mrs. Juhasz were released after treatment. Lipdak was admitted for X-ray examination and further medical attention.

A 24-year-old Hyde Park man was in the Ulster County jail today awaiting action of the grand jury on a charge of illegal possession of a billy club, according to Highland State Police.

Troopers said Bert Forstrom, of Hyde Park, was driving his 1957 car along Route 44-55 between the Highland traffic circle and the Mid-Hudson Bridge at about 1:20 a. m. today when the vehicle crashed into a rock embankment.

Forstrom received lacerations of the lips and abrasions of the knees. Troopers said the motorist refused medical attention.

Search of Forstrom's car revealed a billy club, troopers said. Forstrom was arraigned before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus. He waived preliminary examination and was committed to jail pending grand jury action.

According to troopers, Forstrom has a previous conviction for burglary, and he was booked on a felony charge.

Investment Club Penalty For Any Withdrawals

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "Our investment club consists of twelve members, each of whom contributed $100 at our first meeting and $10 per month thereafter. If a member wishes to withdraw from the club, our constitution provides that he be penalized 1 per cent of his total club dollar value plus any expense in selling shares to provide the necessary cash for his withdrawal. In later years, this might penalize the withdrawing member excessively. Can you suggest a more realistic formula for withdrawal?" G. C.

A) I think you're concerned about something that's really of very little importance except psychologically.

If the dollar value of an individual's membership ran up to $10,000 his 1 per cent penalty for withdrawal would amount to only $100. I don't believe your 1 per cent penalty is sufficient to act as a deterrent, but I can see that it might be an irritant. Although some clubs I know exact a penalty similar to yours, the majority simply charge the withdrawing member the actual expenses (tax and commission) of liquidating his prorata ownership.

Q) "I am interested in an electric utility and a bank stock—both for income and moderate growth. Have considered Union Electric of Missouri, Long Island Lighting, New York State Gas & Electric, and Marine Midland. What do you think of these stocks?" C. R.

I think very well of all of them.

Marine Midland is actually a holding company controlling banks in New York State. The shares are an excellent holding for 4 per cent income and gradual appreciation.

Your suggested utilities all offer a high degree of security. The major difference is in the yields, which are determined by the rate of growth which the market expects for each. Union Electric, rather slow, yields 4.3 per cent. New York State Electric & Gas, average growth, returns 4 per cent. Fast growing Long Island Lighting brings only 3.7 per cent at recent levels. Personally, I'd pick the latter, unless higher income were really vital.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

$150 Million Spending Brings No Economic Boom for Plattsburgh

Editors: The government can spend $150 million in construction of facilities but it doesn't necessarily create an economic boom for a community. This is the situation in Plattsburgh, as described in this AP Membership Enterprise story.)

By ROY SOUTHWORTH
Written for The Associated Press

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—A $100-million Air Force base and a $50-million-plus, missile-launching complex do not necessarily create an economic boom for a community.

Plattsburgh has both the base and the missile project and is regarded as a depressed area. Six per cent of the labor force of Clinton County, which grew in population from 50,000 to 70,000 between 1950 and 1960, is unemployed.

County residents are not as disturbed by the possibility of enemy assault on the Strategic Air Command base or the dozen rocket-launching sites as they are by the specter of unemployment.

"The most depressing problem . . .is the need for diversification of industry," says Dr. Ernst Wiener, professor of social studies at Plattsburgh State University College. "We have unemployed now. What will it be like when the project is finished?"

He referred to the missile pits, the first of which will receive within a few days its deadly Atlas rocket, capable of unleashing a nuclear bomb that could go a quarter of the way around the earth in half an hour.

Employment is dwindling on the missile project, which has given work to 2,000 persons at its peak and provided a total payroll of $30 million.

The chief topic of conversation in this Lake Champlain region is how to catch and hold a boom.

The thinking has given birth to the Champlain Development Corporation, a non-profit organization with public and private funds. The aim is to attract new industry, particularly from nearby Canada.

Three firms have moved in within the last six months. The corporation is dickering with several others.

Some Experiences

A missile project means a boom, but it has both advantages and disadvantages. Here are some of Plattsburgh's experiences:

1. New jobs are created for a limited period, but local residents do not necessarily get all or most of them.

2. A missile project doesn't have any noticeable effect on the wage level.

3. The project results in an upsurge in job education.

4. A missile project has direct and indirect effects on the housing industry, but the chief beneficiary probably will be the tourist industry.

Housing facilities in and near Plattsburgh were expanded. An Oklahoma City contractor built a 122-unit, $1-million motel on the main street. A Glens Falls man built a $250,000-colony of 25 cottages at Mooney Point, Lake Champlain, eight miles north of the city. When General Dynamics people working on the missile project move out, the structures will be used for the tourist trade.

Rents have gone up 10 per cent in the last two years.

State Chairman Denies Trying to Push Out Stratton

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — State Democratic Chairman William H. McKeon denies that he is seeking to eliminate Rep. Samuel S. Stratton from the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Stratton charged Thursday that the chairman was working for the nomination of Dist. Atty. Frank O'Connor of Queens.

"He (McKeon) wants me out of the race," Stratton said.

In New York City, McKeon said the race for the party's gubernatorial nomination "remains open."

He renewed his offer of assistance to any potential candidates, including Stratton.

Stratton charged that McKeon had instructed several county leaders, including those in Cattaraugus and Herkimer Counties, not to endorse him.

Asks All Be Heard

McKeon said he had asked the chairmen in those counties not to endorse any candidate until all had been heard. He said it was the same request he had made of all county chairmen.

Thomas A. Morris of Ilion, Herkimer County chairman, told a reporter that McKeon had "suggested we hold off any endorsements." The Cattaraugus County chairman, Fred W. Forness Jr., was in an Olean hospital and could not be reached for comment. He told a county committee meeting several weeks ago, however, that McKeon had suggested not endorsing anyone.

The Cattaraugus Democrats, however, gave their endorsement to Stratton. The Herkimer Democrats have not endorsed any candidate. Morris, who said previously that he favored Stratton, now says he is neutral.

Points to Poll

Stratton said he had emerged as the "grass-roots" favorite among the party's candidates for governor in a poll of county chairmen he said was taken by McKeon.

McKeon repeated a denial that such a poll had been taken.

Howard J. Samuels of Canandaigua, another announced candidate, said Stratton's charges were "unfounded and not in the best interests of the party."

He added:

"Stratton is guilty of the very tactics he accused Chairman McKeon of using. Having campaigned for over a year,. . .using the supposed results of informal soundings — not a poll, as he states—before the other announced candidates, myself and Frank O'Connor, even entered the race. Stratton now makes the absurd charge that he is now the most popular candidate. . .such tactics hardly indicate the type of democratic procedure Stratton claims he wants."

Appointed Dean

CHICAGO (AP) — The Rev. Joseph W. Mathews has been appointed dean of the Ecumenical Institute, a division of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago.

The appointment was announced Thursday by the Rev. Dr. Edtar H.S. Chandler, executive director of the federation.

The Rev. Mr. Mathews was for four years a professor of philosophy and religion at Colgate University.

U. S., Canada Are For Study of Cut-Off Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Thursday the United States and Canadian governments have requested an international joint commisssion to study the feasibility of an inland ship channel between Albany,N.Y., and the St. Lawrence River.

The project, known as the Champlain Cut-Off, has long been sought by Vermont members of Congress. It proposes deepening present waterways between Albany and the St. Lawrence by way of Lake Champlain.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a long-time proponent of the project, said an amendment to the 1958 Rivers and Harbors Act contains full authority for the Army Engineers to participate in the commission study.

The 1958 amendment by Aiken and Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., then representative at-large from Vermont, authorized the Engineers to survey the water route from Albany into Lake Champlain, including the advisability of modifying existing waterways into the St. Lawrence.

Aiken said the usual procedure would be for the commission to appoint an International Champlain Engineering Board to outline the scope of the study — such as possible depths, widths, costs, routes and other data on which the project's feasibility can be established.

Aiken said the Senate Public Works Appropriation Committee already has his request for adequate funds to finance the study in the year that started July 1.

"On June 4," Aiken said, "I wrote to Senator Allen J. Ellendern (D-La.) the chairman of subcommittee, requesting an appropriation.

Senator Ellender has assured me, that he will do all he can to expedite action for the necessary money."

Fear Unemployment More Than Attack

$150 Million Spending Brings No Economic Boom for Plattsburgh

Editors: The government can spend $150 million in construction of facilities but it doesn't necessarily create an economic boom for a community. This is the situation in Plattsburgh, as described in this AP Membership Enterprise story.)

By ROY SOUTHWORTH
Written for The Associated Press

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—A $100-million Air Force base and a $50-million-plus, missile-launching complex do not necessarily create an economic boom for a community.

Plattsburgh has both the base and the missile project and is regarded as a depressed area. Six per cent of the labor force of Clinton County, which grew in population from 50,000 to 70,000 between 1950 and 1960, is unemployed.

County residents are not as disturbed by the possibility of enemy assault on the Strategic Air Command base or the dozen rocket-launching sites as they are by the specter of unemployment.

"The most depressing problem . . . is the need for diversification of industry," says Dr. Ernst Wiener, professor of social studies at Plattsburgh State University College. "We have unemployed now. What will it be like when the project is finished?"

He referred to the missile pits, the first of which will receive within a few days its deadly Atlas rocket, capable of unleashing a nuclear bomb that could go a quarter of the way around the earth in half an hour.

Employment is dwindling on the missile project, which has given work to 2,000 persons at its peak and provided a total payroll of $30 million.

The chief topic of conversation in this Lake Champlain region is how to catch and hold a boom.

The thinking has given birth to the Champlain Development Corporation, a non-profit organization with public and private funds. The aim is to attract new industry, particularly from nearby Canada.

Three firms have moved in within the last six months. The corporation is dickering with several others.

Some Experiences

A missile project means a boom, but it has both advantages and disadvantages. Here are some of Plattsburgh's experiences:

1. New jobs are created for a limited period, but local residents do not necessarily get all or most of them.

2. A missile project doesn't have any noticeable effect on the wage level.

3. The project results in an upsurge in job education.

4. A missile project has direct and indirect effects on the housing industry, but the chief beneficiary probably will be the tourist industry.

Housing facilities in and near Plattsburgh were expanded. An Oklahoma City contractor built a 122 unit, $1-million motel on the main street. A Glens Falls man built a $250,000-colony of 25 cottages at Mooney Point, Lake Champlain, eight miles north of the city. When General Dynamics people working on the missile project move out, the structures will be used for the tourist trade.

Rents have gone up 10 per cent in the last two years.

State Chairman Denies Trying to Push Out Stratton

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — State Democratic Chairman William H. McKeon denies that he is seeking to eliminate Rep. Samuel S. Stratton from the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Stratton charged Thursday that the chairman was working for the nomination of Dist. Atty. Frank O'Connor of Queens.

"He (McKeon) wants me out of the race," Stratton said.

In New York City, McKeon said the race for the party's gubernatorial nomination "remains open."

He renewed his offer of assistance to any potential candidates, including Stratton.

Stratton charged that McKeon had instructed several county leaders, including those in Cattaraugus and Herkimer Counties, not to endorse him.

Asks All Be Heard

McKeon said he had asked the chairmen in those counties not to endorse any candidate until all had been heard. He said it was the same request he had made of all county chairmen.

Thomas A. Morris of Ilion, Herkimer County chairman, told a reporter that McKeon had "suggested we hold off any endorsements." The Cattaraugus County chairman, Fred W. Forness Jr., was in an Olean hospital and could not be reached for comment. He told a county committee meeting several weeks ago, however, that McKeon had suggested not endorsing anyone.

The Cattaraugus Democrats, however, gave their endorsement to Stratton. The Herkimer Democrats have not endorsed any candidate. Morris, who said previously that he favored Stratton, now says he is neutral.

Points to Poll

Stratton said he had emerged as the "grass-roots" favorite among the party's candidates for governor in a poll of county chairmen he said was taken by McKeon.

McKeon repeated a denial that such a poll had been taken.

Howard J. Samuels of Canandaigua, another announced candidate, said Stratton's charges were "unfounded and not in the best interests of the party."

He added:

"Stratton is guilty of the very tactics he accused Chairman McKeon of using. Having campaigned for over a year,. . .using the supposed results of informal soundings — not a poll, as he states—before the other announced candidates, myself and Frank O'Connor, even entered the race, Stratton now makes the absurd charge that he is now the most popular candidate. . .such tactics hardly indicate the type of democratic procedure Stratton claims he wants."

Appointed Dean

CHICAGO (AP) — The Rev. Joseph W. Mathews has been appointed dean of the Ecumenical Institute, a division of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago.

The appointment was announced Thursday by the Rev. Dr. Edtar H.S. Chandler, executive director of the federation.

The Rev. Mr. Mathews was for four years a professor of philosophy and religion at Colgate University.

U. S., Canada Are For Study of Cut-Off Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Thursday the United States and Canadian governments have requested an international joint commisssion to study the feasibility of an inland ship channel between Albany,N.Y., and the St. Lawrence River.

The project, known as the Champlain Cut-Off, has long been sought by Vermont members of Congress. It proposes deepening present waterways between Albany and the St. Lawrence by way of Lake Champlain.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a long-time proponent of the project, said an amendment to the 1958 Rivers and Harbors Act contains full authority for the Army Engineers to participate in the commission study.

The 1958 amendment by Aiken and Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., then representative at-large from Vermont, authorized the Engineers to survey the water route from Albany into Lake Champlain, including the advisability of modifying existing waterways into the St. Lawrence.

Aiken said the usual procedure would be for the commission to appoint an International Champlain Engineering Board to outline the scope of the study — such as possible depths, widths, costs, routes and other data on which the project's feasibility can be established.

Aiken said the Senate Public Works Appropriation Committee already has his request for adequate funds to finance the study in the year that started July 1.

"On June 4," Aiken said, "I wrote to Senator Allen J. Ellendern (D-La.) the chairman of subcommittee, requesting an appropriation.

Senator Ellender has assured me, that he will do all he can to expedite action for the necessary money."

Mrs. DuBois Grimm, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Hernandez and son Paul Jr., of Miami, Fla., have been spending the past week with friends near Buffalo.

David Mocera, of this place, was chairman of the fair and barbecue held Saturday of the past week from 2 to 7 p. m., on the grounds of Our Lady of Fatima Chapel, Plattekill. Booths, games and contests were arranged by members of the Holy Name Society, The Rosary Society and parishioners, for the benefit of the church building fund.

Newly elected officers of the Rosarian Society are Mrs. Donald Dempsey, president; Mrs. Jerome Elston, vice president; Mrs. Robert Smith, secretary; Mrs. Joseph Sessa, treasurer.

The dinner planned to end seasonal activities of the members of the Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattekill, Thursday, June 28, was cancelled by the president, Mrs. Marian Jensen. It was decided to postpone the dinner to the opening of the fall season, date and time to be announced later.

Mrs. William Decker, secretary of the committee, announces that 25 children were cared for at the immunization clinic last Tuesday afternoon at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall. Mrs. Decker and Mrs. Jensen assisted the health officers conducting the clinic.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester I. Arnold, who have occupied the house on the property of Joseph E. Hasbrouck in Modena Village, over a period of 30 years, will move in September to their newly purchased property in New Paltz. Mr. Arnold is a retired employe of the Medium Security Prison at Wallkill, and Mrs. Arnold retired as cafeteria manager of the Wallkill Central School some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper and family vacated the Lembo bungalow near Modena Lake, and moved to Washingtonville recently. Mr. Cooper was formerly associated with D. Auchmoody in operating Denton's Garage, Modena.

Mrs. Fred Bernard and Harold Bernard were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Les Strongman near Plattekill.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dimsey entertained at their home recently, Mrs. and Mrs. Edward E. Murray, of North Miami, Fla., formerly of Ulsterville. Mr. Murray was former Ulster County Welfare Commissioner, making the trip from his home in Ulsterville to the county office in Kingston. A trip over the Minnewaska Trail and sections of Ulster County familiar to Mr. Murray, was enjoyed by the visitors and their hosts, during their stay here.

Mrs. May Neuman and daughter Gail of Poughkeepsie, Mrs. Hazel Davis and granddaughter Amanda Terwilliger of Lloyd, visited Miss Glennie M. Wager, here, Friday evening.

During the drill conducted by the Modena Fire Department on Monday evening of the past week, a similiar drill was conducted by the Plattekill firemen, and radio reports exchanged during the action. At Plattekill the Scott Air pack, a type of mask used in smoke and gas conditions, was demonstrated.

John Sturgis remains a patient at the New Paltz Nursing Home, where he has been for many weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron W. Miller of Hauppauge, L. I., were in town last week and visited the former's mother, Mrs. Anna Linderbeck Miller, at the Home for the Aged in Kingston in observance of her 89th birthday Monday, June 25.

Negroes Urged To Register for Heavier Voting

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Negroes want their freedom now and one of the ways for them to get it is through intensified voter registration campaigns, says the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., integration leader and exponent of nonviolence.

"I am still convinced that one of the most significant steps that the Negro can take at this hour is that short walk to the voting booth," he told National Association for the Advancement of Colored People delegates at a dinner Thursday night.

He commended the NAACP for making voter registration a major theme of the national convention.

King, who is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), said it was significant that such major civil rights organizations as the NAACP, SCLC, Congress of Racial Equality, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and the Urban League were coordinating voter registration campaigns.

"We want freedom now and we want all of our rights," he said. "We will join neither a back-to-Africa movement nor a white citizens council-freedom ride north-movement. We want our freedom here in America."

Beacon Would Curb Dogs

Pending a public hearing on a proposed leash ordinance, Beacon City Council members have appropriated $300 for a dog warden. Hearing is scheduled for July 16 at 7:30 p. m. The proposed leash ordinance provides for chaining or leashing of dogs not fenced within property lines. No dog would be permitted to run on public streets.

Stoker Stays With 10 Children, Cost Less for Britain

CARSHALTON, England (AP)—Henry Fisher, 40, whose wife died 18 months ago, gave up his job as a stoker to stay home and take care of his 10 children.

He likes the arrangement.

His children love it.

The British government—which saves money on Henry's unique arrangement—approves.

"The change was very hard at first," said Henry. "In many ways it would have been much easier to put the children into homes—but I didn't want that."

Had the children, whose ages now ranged from 3 to 17, been assigned to public institutions, it would have cost the government at least 40 pounds ($112) a week.

Now it's far less.

Henry gets 10 pounds ($28) from the National Assistance Board; he gets another three pounds 18 shillings ($10.92) in children's allowances.

Probe Beacon Theft

Beacon police today continued investigation of the theft of liquor valued at about $60 and $109.95 in cash from the Beacon Elks Club. Police said entrance was gained to the building by breaking a window in a side door and opening the door after lifting a steel bar.

Negroes Urged To Register for Heavier Voting

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Negroes want their freedom now and one of the ways for them to get it is through intensified voter registration campaigns, says the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., integration leader and exponent of nonviolence.

"I am still convinced that one of the most significant steps that the Negro can take at this hour is that short walk to the voting booth," he told National Association for the Advancement of Colored People delegates at a dinner Thursday night.

He commended the NAACP for making voter registration a major theme of the national convention.

King, who is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), said it was significant that such major civil rights organizations as the NAACP, SCLC, Congress of Racial Equality, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and the Urban League were coordinating voter registration campaigns.

"We want freedom now and we want all of our rights," he said. "We will join neither a back-to-Africa movement nor a white citizens council-freedom ride north-movement. We want our freedom here in America."

Beacon Would Curb Dogs

Pending a public hearing on a proposed leash ordinance, Beacon City Council members have appropriated $300 for a dog warden. Hearing is scheduled for July 16 at 7:30 p. m. The proposed leash ordinance provides for chaining or leashing of dogs not fenced within property lines. No dog would be permitted to run on public streets.

Stoker Stays With 10 Children, Cost Less for Britain

CARSHALTON, England (AP)—Henry Fisher, 40, whose wife died 18 months ago, gave up his job as a stoker to stay home and take care of his 10 children.

He likes the arrangement.

His children love it.

The British government—which saves money on Henry's unique arrangement—approves.

"The change was very hard at first," said Henry. "In many ways it would have been much easier to put the children into homes—but I didn't want that."

Had the children, whose ages now ranged from 3 to 17, been assigned to public institutions, it would have cost the government at least 40 pounds ($112) a week.

Now it's far less.

Henry gets 10 pounds ($28) from the National Assistance Board; he gets another three pounds 18 shillings ($10.92) in children's allowances.

Probe Beacon Theft

Beacon police today continued investigation of the theft of liquor valued at about $60 and $109.95 in cash from the Beacon Elks Club. Police said entrance was gained to the building by breaking a window in a side door and opening the door after lifting a steel bar.

For wedding receptions, banquets and other festive occasions, it's . . .

Builds Shelter For 12 Horses And 17 Persons

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—A fallout shelter for horses?

C.T. Newberry is building one on his estate at nearby Black Brook, but it will have room for 17 persons as well as 12 horses.

The shelter, expected to be ready for use this year, will have three large intake fans to reduce odors and provide ventilation.

Five rooms and a lavatory in the shelter are designed for use by Newberry, his wife and daughter and three families employed on the estate.

The shelter is being built three feet below ground level, with 16-inch-thick, concrete outer walls. It will have a large double-door entrance and its floor space will cover about 1,500 square feet.

State Civil Defense officials have praised the project.

Rushville Man Killed

GORHAM, N. Y. (AP) — Milford J. Adams, 51, of Rushville, was killed Thursday night in a two-car crash at the intersection of Route 247 and a county road near this Ontario County village.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Writing of her early years in the movies, Joan Crawford comments:

"Maybe I did play harder than anyone else—I worked harder, too. Perhaps (it was) because I had such an inferiority complex, because I was trying to compensate for all I lacked in education, poise and background. I wanted something out of life and this was the only way I knew to acquire it."

Interesting Study

This helps to explain the phenomenon of Joan Crawford, which is described in depth in her new autobiography, "Portrait of Joan" written with Jane Kesner Ardmore. It is an arresting study of the longest-lasting of all the Hollywood stars—she made her first film in 1925, is starring in three this year.

The book is in Crawford style—realistic, down-to-earth, but with overtones of glamor and sentiment. That sounds paradoxical. I know, but Crawford is a paradox; a hard-driving woman who manages to remain feminine; a dream merchant with her eyes wide open.

She tells all, or almost all, about the ups and downs of her career and marriages.

About the husbands—

No. 1, Douglas Fairbanks Jr.: "Douglas was trying to prove something, that he was as good a man as his father, that he was a wit, a practical joker in his own right. He didn't have to prove this to me. I was his best audience, but that wasn't enough, he needed a larger audience, and entertaining constantly, he'd dispel his energy. When the guests would leave, alas, we were without communication."

No. 2, Franchot Tone: "There was never a doubt in my mind that Franchot's talent was greater than mine, and I tried very hard to give him more scenes, to build his ego. It just didn't work. It was no wonder that he gradually broke away, tried to assert himself. He was working in a film, I wasn't. One afternoon I dropped by his dressing room to surprise him. I did."

Apology Due From Start

No. 3, Phillip Terry: "I had never really known Phillip, I realized that. I had not really loved him. I don't like pauses, and this pause ended in divorce. Never marry out of loneliness. I owed him an apology from the first."

No. 4, Alfred SteeleG "For the first time in my life, a man was giving me emotional stability. We attained a precious height — the ability to love each other beyond the love of self."

She also tells of a love affair with Clark Gable at the time he was married to his second wife: "We talked of marriage, of course. But I dared not ruin the dreams. I'd rather live with them unfilled than have them broken."

South Didn't Stop to Think

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The habit of making your play first, then doing your thinking later is just about as bad a habit a bridge player can acquire.

South was delighted by the opening spade lead. He played low from dummy and won the trick with his jack.

Then he looked for new worlds to conquer and suddenly found that he would have no way to get to his hand for his nice diamonds.

He thought a while and made a valiant effort. He led the queen of spades and if West had covered, everything would have been hunky-dory, but West knew South held the ten spot. East had played the eight at trick one.

West ducked and now South had to go after the clubs. Unfortunately, that suit broke badly for him. So did the hearts and South had to go down.

Had South just thought a little before playing to the first trick he would have gone up with dummy's ace of spades.

Then he would have set up the diamond suit and eventually got to his hand with a spade to wind up with four diamond tricks and two in each of the other suits.

To Probe Sugar Lobbyists

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee will investigate efforts by foreign agents to influence this year's sugar legislation—lobbying tactics termed unfortunate by President Kennedy.

Congressional figures indicate the sugar lobbyists were paid a total of more than $500,000 by their foreign government clients.

The investigation is expected to start in a few days and will be headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. He was designated by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which handles legislation dealing with registration of foreign agents.

Heading for Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army and Air Force headed today toward a clash over the Air Force's growing effort to move deeper into the antiguerrilla warfare business.

The crux of the issue is an Air Force proposal for $65 million to build its fledgling 850 man air commando force to about 5,000 men and develop special aircraft suited to fighting Communist guerrillas.

"The Army considers that no service should acquire counter insurgency equipment or create counter insurgency organizations which duplicate existing or planned capabilities which are the responsibility of another service," an Army spokesman said.

Added Jobless Seen Through Technical Gains

HARRIMAN, N. Y. (AP) — A political scientist asserts that further technhnical advances will bring marked increases in unemployment and that full employment is unattainable in our present economy.

The statements were made today by Carl F. Stover, director of studies in science and technology at the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions, Santa Barbara, Calif. In remarks prepared for the Arden House Assembly of Business Executives, Stover said:

"We are already experiencing significant amounts of technological unemployment. It seems clear that such events are only the beginning — the warning signs of a problem that is likely to become greater.

"Throughout American industry there are pockets of incipient technological unemployment not yet counted in the government statistics."

College Heads See Students at Deven's

FORT DEVENS, Mass. (AP)—Officials of several northeastern colleges and universities observed their students in training at the 1962 reserve officers' training corps summer camp at Fort Devens.

Lt. General Garrison H. Davidson, commanding general of the First Army, and the educators were the guests Thursday of Maj. Gen. William J. Berbeck, commanding officer at Fort Devens.

Among the institutions represented were:

Alfred University, Canisius College, Niagara University and Syracuse University.

Party to Hear Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 150 Republican congressional candidates from 38 states gathered today for briefings on issues and campaign tactics.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will address the candidates and their campaign managers tonight. He will talk about campaign techniques he has used.

The United States has about 110 million persons of voting age.

Builds Shelter For 12 Horses And 17 Persons

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—A fallout shelter for horses?

C.T. Newberry is building one on his estate at nearby Black Brook, but it will have room for 17 persons as well as 12 horses.

The shelter, expected to be ready for use this year, will have three large intake fans to reduce odors and provide ventilation.

Five rooms and a lavatory in the shelter are designed for use by Newberry, his wife and daughter and three families employed on the estate.

The shelter is being built three feet below ground level, with 16-inch-thick, concrete outer walls. It will have a large double-door entrance and its floor space will cover about 1,500 square feet.

State Civil Defense officials have praised the project.

Rushville Man Killed

GORHAM, N. Y. (AP) — Milford J. Adams, 51, of Rushville, was killed Thursday night in a two-car crash at the intersection of Route 247 and a county road near this Ontario County village.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Writing of her early years in the movies, Joan Crawford comments:

"Maybe I did play harder than anyone else—I worked harder, too. Perhaps (it was) because I had such an inferiority complex, because I was trying to compensate for all I lacked in education, poise and background. I wanted something out of life and this was the only way I knew to acquire it."

Interesting Study

This helps to explain the phenomenon of Joan Crawford, which is described in depth in her new autobiography, "Portrait of Joan" written with Jane Kesner Ardmore. It is an arresting study of the longest-lasting of all the Hollywood stars—she made her first film in 1925, is starring in three this year.

The book is in Crawford style—realistic, down-to-earth, but with overtones of glamor and sentiment. That sounds paradoxical. I know, but Crawford is a paradox; a hard-driving woman who manages to remain feminine; a dream merchant with her eyes wide open.

She tells all, or almost all, about the ups and downs of her career and marriages.

About the husbands—

No. 1, Douglas Fairbanks Jr.: "Douglas was trying to prove something, that he was as good a man as his father, that he was a wit, a practical joker in his own right. He didn't have to prove this to me. I was his best audience, but that wasn't enough, he needed a larger audience, and entertaining constantly, he'd dispel his energy. When the guests would leave, alas, we were without communication."

No. 2, Franchot Tone: "There was never a doubt in my mind that Franchot's talent was greater than mine, and I tried very hard to give him more scenes, to build his ego. It just didn't work. It was no wonder that he gradually broke away, tried to assert himself. He was working in a film, I wasn't. One afternoon I dropped by his dressing room to surprise him. I did."

Apology Due From Start

No. 3, Phillip Terry: "I had never really known Phillip, I realized that. I had not really loved him. I don't like pauses, and this pause ended in divorce. Never marry out of loneliness. I owed him an apology from the first."

No. 4, Alfred SteeleG "For the first time in my life, a man was giving me emotional stability. We attained a precious height — the ability to love each other beyond the love of self."

She also tells of a love affair with Clark Gable at the time he was married to his second wife: "We talked of marriage, of course. But I dared not ruin the dreams. I'd rather live with them unfilled than have them broken."

South Didn't Stop to Think

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The habit of making your play first, then doing your thinking later is just about as bad a habit a bridge player can acquire.

South was delighted by the opening spade lead. He played low from dummy and won the trick with his jack.

Then he looked for new worlds to conquer and suddenly found that he would have no way to get to his hand for his nice diamonds.

He thought a while and made a valiant effort. He led the queen of spades and if West had covered, everything would have been hunky-dory, but West knew South held the ten spot. East had played the eight at trick one.

West ducked and now South had to go after the clubs. Unfortunately, that suit broke badly for him. So did the hearts and South had to go down.

Had South just thought a little before playing to the first trick he would have gone up with dummy's ace of spades.

Then he would have set up the diamond suit and eventually got to his hand with a spade to wind up with four diamond tricks and two in each of the other suits.

To Probe Sugar Lobbyists

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee will investigate efforts by foreign agents to influence this year's sugar legislation—lobbying tactics termed unfortunate by President Kennedy.

Congressional figures indicate the sugar lobbyists were paid a total of more than $500,000 by their foreign government clients.

The investigation is expected to start in a few days and will be headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. He was designated by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which handles legislation dealing with registration of foreign agents.

Heading for Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army and Air Force headed today toward a clash over the Air Force's growing effort to move deeper into the antiguerrilla warfare business.

The crux of the issue is an Air Force proposal for $65 million to build its fledgling 850 man air commando force to about 5,000 men and develop special aircraft suited to fighting Communist guerrillas.

"The Army considers that no service should acquire counter insurgency equipment or create counter insurgency organizations which duplicate existing or planned capabilities which are the responsibility of another service," an Army spokesman said.

Added Jobless Seen Through Technical Gains

HARRIMAN, N. Y. (AP) — A political scientist asserts that further techhnical advances will bring marked increases in unemployment and that full employment is unattainable in our present economy.

The statements were made today by Carl F. Stover, director of studies in science and technology at the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions, Santa Barbara, Calif. In remarks prepared for the Arden House Assembly of Business Executives, Stover said:

"We are already experiencing significant amounts of technological unemployment. It seems clear that such events are only the beginning — the warning signs of a problem that is likely to become greater.

"Throughout American industry there are pockets of incipient technological unemployment not yet counted in the government statistics."

College Heads See Students at Deven's

FORT DEVENS, Mass. (AP)—Officials of several northeastern colleges and universities observed their students in training at the 1962 reserve officers' training corps summer camp at Fort Devens.

Lt. General Garrison H. Davidson, commanding general of the First Army, and the educators were the guests Thursday of Maj. Gen. William J. Berbeck, commanding officer at Fort Devens.

Among the institutions represented were:

Alfred University, Canisius College, Niagara University and Syracuse University.

Party to Hear Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 150 Republican congressional candidates from 38 states gathered today for briefings on issues and campaign tactics.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will address the candidates and their campaign managers tonight. He will talk about campaign techniques he has used.

The United States has about 110 million persons of voting age.

O'Dell-Fries Double Ring Nuptials Held At Old Dutch; to Make Home in Maryland

The double ring wedding of Miss Marlene Betty Fries and Eugene Frank O'Dell was performed at Old Dutch Church 2 p. m. Saturday, June 9 by the Rev. Willis R. Scott, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Franz Fries of 66 Pine Grove Avenue and the late Mr. Fries. Mr. O'Dell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Dell of 257 Washington Avenue.

Musical selections presented by Gilbert Cicio, organist and George Shaver, soloist, included I Love You Truly; Because and The Lord's Prayer. The church was decorated with white gladioli, snapdragons and carnations and family pews were marked with white bows for the occasion.

Escorted in marriage by her brother, Frank E. Fries of Nyack, the bride wore a gown of nylon lace with scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins. The floor-length skirt terminated in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was secured to a queen crown of crystals. She carried a cascade of carnations and miniature carnations and orchids.

Eileen Nessel of Kingston was honor attendant is a ballerina length gown of yellow chiffon with draped neckline and satin cummerbund. Her matching headpiece was a queen crown with circular veil. She carried a cascade of yellow and white carnations.

Other atteandants were Florence O'Dell, sister of the bridegroom and Sharon Brinkerhof, both of this city; Mary Jane LeFever of Bloomington and Eunice Gannon of Plattekill. They wore blue gowns similar to the honor attendant's and carried cascades of blue and white carnations.

Ernest O'Dell of this city was best man for his brother. Ushers were Frank Gannon of Plattekill, Harold Humphrey of Kingston, Clifford and Richard Benward, cousins of the bridegroom, both of Poughkeepsie.

For a trip to Washington, D. C. and Maryland, the bride wore a beige suit with harmonizing accessories and a corsage of orchids. The couple will make their home at Lexington Park, Md.

Both are graduates of Kingston High School. Mr. O'Dell is an aerial photographer stationed at Patuxent River Base, Md.

It is estimated that if all metal cans produced in the U. S. last year were laid end to end, they would circle the earth 100 times.

BRINGING SON IN HUSBAND'S PLACE

Q: My sister and her husband received an invitation to the wedding of a neighbor of theirs. When speaking to her the other day she told me that her husband would be unable to go to the wedding and that she was taking her son in his place. I told her that I did not think it was right for her to do this, and added that if the bride had wanted her son at the wedding he would have been sent an invitation. She said it was a perfectly acceptable thing to do. I would like your opinion on this matter.

A: You are right. She should not take her son to the wedding in the place of her husband without first telephoning and asking the bride, or her mother, if she may do so.

'Off-Again-on-Again' Engagement

Q: Last year my engagement was announced in the newspaper and several months later the engagement was broken. A notice was sent to the newspaper to this effect. After being apart we both realized that we really love each other and so we intend to become engaged again. I would like to know if it would be proper for my parents to send a second notice of our engagement to the newspaper.

A: It would be in better taste to let those who are interested, know that you are again engaged by word of mouth rather than send a second announcement of your engagement to the same man, to the newspaper.

Son to Give Mother Away

Q: I have been a widow for the past five years and have a 19-year-old son. I am planning to marry again in the very near future. I would like to know if it would be proper for my son to give me away. I am very close to my son and would like very much to have him do so if it will not be in bad taste.

A: It will be entirely proper for your son to walk up the aisle with you and give you away.

BRINGING SON IN HUSBAND'S PLACE

Q: My sister and her husband received an invitation to the wedding of a neighbor of theirs. When speaking to her the other day she told me that her husband would be unable to go to the wedding and that she was taking her son in his place. I told her that I did not think it was right for her to do this, and added that if the bride had wanted her son at the wedding he would have been sent an invitation. She said it was a perfectly acceptable thing to do. I would like your opinion on this matter.

A: You are right. She should not take her son to the wedding in the place of her husband without first telephoning and asking the bride, or her mother, if she may do so.

'Off-Again-on-Again' Engagement

Q: Last year my engagement was announced in the newspaper and several months later the engagement was broken. A notice was sent to the newspaper to this effect. After being apart we both realized that we really love each other and so we intend to become engaged again. I would like to know if it would be proper for my parents to send a second notice of our engagement to the newspaper.

A: It would be in better taste to let those who are interested, know that you are again engaged by word of mouth rather than send a second announcement of your engagement to the same man, to the newspaper.

Son to Give Mother Away

Q: I have been a widow for the past five years and have a 19-year-old son. I am planning to marry again in the very near future. I would like to know if it would be proper for my son to give me away. I am very close to my son and would like very much to have him do so if it will not be in bad taste.

A: It will be entirely proper for your son to walk up the aisle with you and give you away.

Power Failure Disrupts Service In Columbia Area

A major power failure lasting more than three hours resulted Thursday afternoon, when a 34,500 volt Niagara Mohawk Power Co., feeder dropped near Valatie in Columbia County.

The power line serviced New York State electric company lines serving residents of Ghent, Spencertown, Chatham and parts of East Chatham. Service also was interupted in sections of Kinderhook, Nassau and Niverville.

The Columbia and Rensselaer telephone lines switched to auxiliary power during the breakdown.

Authorities said some motorists were stranded when electrically operated service station pumps, were idled.

Chatham firemen stood by at fire stations until service was restored as all fire alarm systems were not operating.

Morton Not Too Hopeful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., has offered a proposal as a substitute for the Kennedy administration's health care for the aged plan which includes Social Security tax financing.

Under Morton's proposal, the program would be financed from general revenues of the Treasury and would provide federal payments for private health insurance premiums for persons over 65.

Morton said he expected his alternative to be disposed of without a record vote, a pretty clear indication he did not hold high hopes for it.

Power Failure Disrupts Service In Columbia Area

A major power failure lasting more than three hours resulted Thursday afternoon, when a 34,500 volt Niagara Mohawk Power Co., feeder dropped near Valatie in Columbia County.

The power line serviced New York State electric company lines serving residents of Ghent, Spencertown, Chatham and parts of East Chatham. Service also was interupted in sections of Kinderhook, Nassau and Niverville.

The Columbia and Rensselaer telephone lines switched to auxiliary power during the breakdown.

Authorities said some motorists were stranded when electrically operated service station pumps, were idled.

Chatham firemen stood by at fire stations until service was restored as all fire alarm systems were not operating.

Morton Not Too Hopeful

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., has offered a proposal as a substitute for the Kennedy administration's health care for the aged plan which includes Social Security tax financing.

Under Morton's proposal, the program would be financed from general revenues of the Treasury and would provide federal payments for private health insurance premiums for persons over 65.

Morton said he expected his alternative to be disposed of without a record vote, a pretty clear indication he did not hold high hopes for it.

Plan to Reclaim Nuclear Fuels MayCutMonopoly

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says a tentative agreement on the construction of a $22-million center for reclaiming nuclear fuels and storing atomic wastes represents "a landmark in the long effort to break the federal monopoly over atomic energy."

The governor announced Thursday that the State Atomic Research and Development Authority and Nuclear Fuel Services Inc., a subsidiary of W.R. Grace & Co., has signed an option in connection with the proposed project.

The company has until Dec. 31 to decide whether it will go ahead. Its success in neogitating contracts for orders with utilities and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission will be one condition for the company to consider in making its decision.

Under the tentative plans, Nuclear Fuel Services would build a $14-million plant on state-owned land in Cattaraugus County for reprocessing atomic fuel. Facilities for atomic-waste storage also would be built by the company but the authority would retain ownership of them.

Nuclear Fuel Services would reclaim fuel that could be used again from such used fuels that were sent to the proposed facilities. Other material would be disposed of at the waste facilities, probably in underground storage.

The facilities would be constructed at the Western New York Nuclear Services Center.

Add a little salt, lemon juice and sugar to sour cream and serve as a dressing for sliced cucumbers and salad greens.

Mail or Bring Hospital Fund Pledges: Kalish

Persons not contacted in the Kingston Hospital Building Fund campaign were asked today to mail or bring their contributions and pledges to the hospital, as the $900,000 drive entered its final stage.

To date a total of $883,025 in pledges have been received toward the goal which was set as a minimum required, with expected federal aid through the Hill-Burton Act, to construct a five-level wing to provide urgently needed additional medical-surgical beds, a new and enlarged pediatric section, School of Nursing classrooms and administration facilities.

"Literally hundreds of dedicated citizens participated as workers in the drive," said Richard M. Kalish, general chairman. "Their selfless devotion and tireless efforts are sincerely appreciated by all of us in this project that is a vital necessity to Kingston and Ulster County."

"In a campaign of this magnitude—largest ever conducted in this area—it is inevitable, however, that some residents were missed," Kalish pointed out. It was to those persons that he appealed in asking pledges be mailed of brought to the hospital.

"It is not necessary to contribute in cash. Pledges over a three or five year period are especially welcome, and individuals desiring a pledge card may secure one by calling Kingston Hospital," he said.

Justice Keogh Is To Get Pension DespiteConviction

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Justice J. Vincent Keogh of State Supreme Court is assurred of his state pension despite his conviction in a conspiracy to fix a federal court case, the state comptroller said today.

Comptroller Arthur Levitt said through a spokesman the 56-year-old jurist had met all eligibility requirements for the pension and Keogh's conviction had "no bearing" on the matter.

The spokesman said there had been cases where members of the Employees' Retirement System had been sent to prison and had continued to draw their pensions. He declined to mention any specific case.

Levitt, as comptroller, is by law the administrative head of the system, comprising state and municipal employes. The system is financed through contributions from members, the state, particmade by the system.

The amount of the pension payments Keogh would receive was not readily available, the spokesman said.

Keogh has resigned, effective July 19, from the $34,500-a-year post in Brooklyn. He and two others were convicted June 16 in federal court in New York City of conspiring to obstruct justice. Keogh said he planned to appeal.

THE OLD DAYS [4]

West Coast, East Side

The majorettes were missing but festivals, left, were the thing in the Pacific Northwest in the early 1900s. Float featuring a farm display and a demurely costumed queen represented Medford, Ore., in the 1908 Portland Rose Festival. Sidewalks of this section of New York, right, couldn't accommodate customers for the curbside vendors, about 1906. Gentleman on balcony, right, had a prime viewing spot for the teeming activity going on in the street below. (Photos from Agriculture Department's centennial booklet, "Way Back When.")

Freeman, Mundt Trade Charges At Estes Quiz

Still edgy after the quarrel, the investigations subcommittee declined to tip off any plans for the day, or even to name major witnesses.

The bitter outburst flared Thursday between Democratic Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D. Each accused the other of playing politics in the inquiry.

The subcommittee is trying to determine if Estes used political influence as a stepping stone in piling up a multimillion-dollar business empire based on the government cotton allotment program and storage of surplus grain.

Freeman says he did not.

Subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who remained aloof from the wrangling, excused Freeman from the witness chair after three days of testifying but said he may be recalled after other witnesses have been heard.

The Freeman-Mundt word battle ranged over many things. Mundt blamed Freeman for a resolution he said had been proposed to the South Dakota Democratic State Convention urging Freeman, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and the subcommittee to "reveal any correlation between Mundt's campaign contributors and grain storage allocations, and any relationship to the Billie Sol Estes case."

Mundt challenged the secretary to produce any evidence to back up what Mundt called such Democratic efforts to link his name with "Estes and improper influence."

Winnie Bounces Back

Recuperating from a fractured thigh, Britain's wartime leader was reported Thursday to have had a tiring day.

But he bounced back. Hospital spokesmen said his condition was comfortable this morning.

U.S. Adds Claim To Car Fortune

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—The federal government headed a growing list of claimants today to a $2.4 million fortune found in the trunk of a dusty, old automobile.

Bookmaker Joseph (Newsboy) Moriarty, 52, refused to discuss ownership of the treasure with an FBI agent Thursday, and authorities said his girl friend, Anna Petrick, followed suit.

Questioned at State Prison in Trenton, Moriarty would give only his name and said he plans to retain a lawyer, the agent said.

Local authorities who questioned Miss Petrick said she admitted owning the car in which the money was found but for the most part would not elaborate.

Miss Petrick, who gave her age as "over 21", was quoted as having said she had known Moriarty "practically all his life."

While Moriarty and Miss Petrick would neither deny or confirm ownership of the money, others had their eye on it.

U.S. Atty. David M. Satz Jr. said the federal government, "acting on the basis of strong indications" that the money had been accumulated by Moriarty, was taking steps to claim the entire amount.

2 Claim Resnick Attempted to Hire Them for Killing

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A retired Air Force sergeant and a truck driver say Samuel L. Resnick of Albany, N.Y., tried to hire them to kill him.

On trial are R. E. Jackson, 20; his brother Clemmie, 19; Ernest Spurlock, 20; Jesse Tillis, 19, and John Henry Lewis Jones, 21. All admitted their part in the slaying but said Resnick hired them to do it because he suffered from incurable cancer.

James B. O'Grady of Phoenix, the retired sergeant, said Resnick answered his newspaper ad for work Oct. 29. O'Grady said Resnick told him he had cancer and his wife would get double indemnity insurance benefits if he were killed. O'Grady said he turned him down.

Similar testimony came from Alfred L. Schroeder, a Phoenix truck driver. Schroeder said he advertised that he would do anything legal for $1,000.

Exchanges at Wall

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin police reported today that they had exchanged stones and tear gas with sentries on the Communist side of the Berlin wall just before midnight.

According to the Western report, police patrols were stoned over the wall by the border guards. No explanation was given.

Lawrence Reports Surplus for Pa.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence reports the state ended the 1961-62 fiscal year with a $16.6 million surplus, marking the first time in a decade the Commonwealth is out from under a deficit in its spending program.

Total revenue for the fiscal period was reported at $1.027 billion —some $3.7 million over estimates —and total spending was $986.3 million. That is $11.5 million less than appropriated. The fiscal period ended June 30.

The 1961-62 fiscal period began with a deficit of $33.3 million.

The surplus revenue, state officials said, will provide:

—$3.4 million for public schools and $296,792 for Pennsylvania State University.

—$8.9 million to help balance the new 1962-63 budget.

—$3.9 million to help pay off World War II veterans' bonus bonds.

The surplus was some $7.7 million more than state fiscal managers had estimated last January.

Lawrence and other top Democrats were clearly pleased by the outcome. The governor had made elimination of the deficit a cornerstone of his administration.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — I do not know what will happen in the stock market between now and the time when you read this in your local newspaper, but from December 13, 1961 to the present:—

The Railroads have gone from 144.45 to 116.05.

This means that the Dow-Jones Industrials, which is what investors popularly use as a measure, have gone off more than 27% from their all-time high. The previous low for the cycle was in 1957.

Figuring this roughly, a 27% drop is nothing for investors to worry about provided they are not buying on margin, or on loan, and provided they have stocks of good quality. The difficulty comes with those who are buying stocks on margin and who have been nearly wiped out or have suffered severe losses. I feel very sorry for them. On the other hand, those who have their stocks paid for and in their safe-deposit box probably have nothing to fear and will see them come back again some day to much higher prices.

Very few people buy bonds on margin. But, while some industrial "blue chips" still yield only around 3½%, good corporation bonds — which precede in security all stocks of the same company — can be bought to yield around 4½%. Therefore, the wise investors have gradually been changing from gilt-edge stocks to bonds.

Usually corporation bonds are, of course, taxable as to income; but tax-exempt municipals, or revenue bonds issued on the turnpikes, can be bought to yield about 3% to any investor, and the equivalent of 7% to investors in the 50%-or-higher tax bracket. Personally, because of the probability of inflation, I prefer to buy bonds of not over five-ten years maturity. This is very important to remember.

Probably most of my readers have mutual funds. In many cases, they are being bought on an installment basis, with payment every month. I believe in mutual funds for the small investor as it gives him diversification under what is supposed to be proper supervision. But, like everything else in this world, mutual funds have both their advantages and their disadvantages.

So long as the new sales exceed the redemptions, the managers of the funds are not obliged to sell any of their holdings. If, however, cancellations exceed the new sales, then the managers of the funds are compelled to sell securities, and the mutual funds may temporarily suffer, even though they will ultimately rebound. Mutual funds in the long run must go up and down as the general market goes up and down. If we are now in a bear market, mutual funds will decline in price also. It therefore is important when buying new mutual funds in a bear market to be sure that the price is adjusted to the Dow-Jones Average.

In a bear market it is very difficult to select stocks for both profit and income,—and especially for profit. On the other hand, any sound, long-established investment advisory service should be able to select good stocks which will pay 5%-6%. Stocks which would fit this category are the equities of the big transcontinental railroads such as the Union Pacific, the Northern Pacific, the Canadian Pacific, the Southern Pacific, and the Atchison.

If an investor wants to be ultra-conservative, he might divide his money amongst these five railroads. He would then be able to secure safety with a good yield. Some readers will say to themselves that they want no railroad securities. But, these railroads own valuable oil and mineral assets which go a long way toward paying their dividends irrespective of the railroad's traffic. Certainly, they can all give up their pasenger busines and be an atractive investment.

Karen Sussman America's Hope At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Karen Hantze Susman, United States Wightman Cup tennis star, today started laying plans to master a loping, soft-balling Czech player who reached the Wimbledon final by upsetting four of the world's top stars.

Karen, 19, plays Vera Sukova, 30, in the final Saturday. The two have never met before.

Karen was seeded No. 8. Nobody thought of seeding Mrs. Sukova, an ambling, heavily built baseline player who has been around the European circuit for years and never done anything spectacular.

But in the last 10 days, almost unnoticed, she has demolished Jan Lehane of Australia and three seeded stars—defending champion Angela Mortimer of Britain, U.S. Wightman Cup star Darlene Hard and 1959-60 Wimble champion Maria Bueno of Brazil.

Mrs. Sukova achieved her most incredible triumph Thursday, edging out Miss Bueno, the tennis tigress with the power service and the flashing volley, 6-4, 6-3 in the semifinals.

Mrs. Susman avenged a Wightman Cup defeat and crushed Ann Haydon of Britain 8-6, 6-1.

Karen, who comes from Chula Vista, Calif., but now lives with her husband Rod at San Antonio, Tex., sank the hopes of the crowd on the center court by her clear-cut victory over Miss Haydon, the pride of Britain.

If Mrs. Susman wins, she will take the title back to America for the first time since Althea Gibson won it in 1958. Mrs. Sukova is the first Czech ever to reach the women's final.

Irish Jewel was the place horse for 5.10 and 3.50. Third was Quick Sis for 3.20

Duck Drop

FINDLAY, Ohio — (NEA) — Last winter Ohio game management personnel erected foundations in trees to serve as nests for the captive goose flock at Kildeer Wildlife Area. A mallard hen has beaten the Canada geese to one of the half-drum nesting sites located 25 feet up a tree. Mallards almost always nest on the ground, so game men are speculating on how the mama mallard will bring her young ones down to earth when they hatch. Wood ducks nest in trees. Young wood ducks just step off into space. Whether mallard chicks can survive such a fall remains to be seen.

Houk Picks Team, Ducks for Cover

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Manager Ralph Houk completed selection of the American League all-stars today and ducked for cover.

The Yankee pilot added 17 players to the front line squad of eight who will meet the National League stars in Washington next Tuesday, naming eight pitchers and nine alternate infielders, outfielders and catchers.

Houk, like his National League counterpart Fred Hutchinson picked only one southpaw on his pitching staff—Hank Aguirre (6-3) of Detroit. His right-handers are Dick Donovan, Cleveland (12-3), Camilo Pascual, Minnesota (12-4), Jim Bunning, Detroit (8-4), Bill Monbouquette, Boston (7-8), Dave Stenhouse, Washington (6-3), Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore (3-5), and Ralph Terry, New York (10-7).

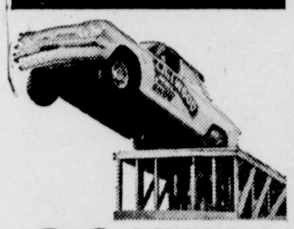

Houk followed the player poll for the rest of the squad, naming the second choices at each position and adding his own catcher, Elston Howard, who finished third in the balloting.

Previously announced as starting players, selected by their fellow athletes, are outfielders Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of New York and Leon Wagner of Los Angeles, catcher Earl Battey and third baseman Rich Rollins of Minnesota, Baltimore first baseman Jim Gentile, Los Angeles second baseman Billy Moran and shortstop Luis Aparicio of Chicago.

These eight must play at least three innings, barring injury. Backing them will be outfielders Rocky Colavito of Detroit, Lee Thomas of Los Angeles and Jim Landis of Chicago; infielders Norm Siebern of Kansas City, Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh of New York and Brooks Robinson of Baltimore; and catchers John Romano of Cleveland and Howard.

35 Club, Vols Score Babe Ruth Loop Wins

The 35 Club nipped the KPA, 12-11, and the Vols walloped the K of C, 14-6, in a pair of free hitting Babe Ruth League games last evening.

There were 27 hits in the 35 Club-KPA slugfest at the Athletic Field but it took a pickoff play in the final inning to give 35 Club the victory.

John Eccelston led the Vols with a two-run homer and a single as they scored nine runs in the second frame to coast to the win.

The rally came as the result of six straight walks, a pair of singles, a double, passed ball and an error.

Drysdale Ks Frisco

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's their usual style to dazzle the National League opposition with speed and footwork. But for a change of pace, the streaking Los Angeles Dodgers can slug away with a heavyweight punch.

They rolled to an 11-3 romp Thursday in the opener of the four-game series at San Francisco to boost their lead over the Giants to a game and a half.

Don Drysdale, Dodger speedballer, quelled the Giant batters on eight hits and won his 15th. Tommy Davis, Frank Howard, Ron Fairly and Willie Davis counted four homers among their total of nine hits.

In the NL's only other game, Alvin McBean threw a six-hitter as Pittsburgh blanked Philadelphia 5-0.

McBean, now 8-5, doled out six singles and one walk.

BATTING—Rocky Colavito, Tigers, became second player this season to hit three homers, driving in five runs with homers in fourth, fifth and seventh innings of 7-6 loss to Cleveland.

PITCHING — Al McBean, Pirates, limited Philadelphia to six hits, all singles, struck out five and walked only one for 5-0 victory.

Dillard Is a Dilly Says Tribe

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Dillard. Who is he?

He's the bench warmer who fired a two-homer salvo and shot the Cleveland Indians into a tie for the American League lead. That's who.

The outfielder came on as a late-inning substitute Wednesday and hit a grand slam in the 13th inning for a 6-2 victory over Detroit. Thursday night he replaced the injured Al Luplow and hit the game-winner with two out in the ninth for a 7-6 victory over the Tigers.

The latest Indian victory overcame a three-home run performance by the Tigers' Rocky Colavito and carried the Indians into a first-place tie with the Los Angeles Angels, who were not scheduled.

In the only other AL game, Jackie Brandt and Jim Gentile led Baltimore to a 5-4 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

Dillard, 25, entered the Indians line-up Thursday when Luplow collapsed with a pulled muscle after making a spectacular running catch of Bill Bruton's drive in the fifth inning. He failed to get a hit his first time up, but in the ninth he tagged a Ron Kline (1-3) pitch to snap a 6-6 tie brought about by Colavito's trio of circuit shots.

The White Sox built a 4-1 lead against Jack Fisher by the fourth inning, but could get only one hit thereafter against Hal Brown and Wes Stock. Brandt made it 4-2 with a homer in the seventh, then doubled to drive home the clincher in a three-run, eighth-inning rally after Gentile knocked in a pair with a bases-loaded single. The victory went to Brown (4-2) while Frank Baumann (1-3) took the loss.

Mrs. Dendy's Net 66 Leads WCC's President's Cup Play

Mrs. Helen Dendy put together the best nine of her career (41) and best 18 hole score (88) to take the first round lead with a net 66 in the women's President's Cup competition at Woodstock Country Club.

Mrs. Dendy's 47-41-88 and net 66 enabled her to take a 2-stroke lead over Mrs. Jessie Burnett.

Mrs. Burnett shook off a protracted slump with low gross for the round, 39-42-81, and had 13 handicap for a net 68. Mrs. Van Wagenen carded 48-47-95 gross to go along with a 26 handicap for 69 net. This tied her with Mrs. Inger Walker, 43-45-88-19-69.

Mrs. Peg Sharpe, 95-25-70; Mrs. Willy Salet, 101-31-70; Mrs. Sylvia Hutchins, 85-14-71; Mrs. Ann Olin, 107-36-71; Mrs. Louise Fitzsimmons, 90-19-71; Mrs. Adelaide Fogel, 94-22-72; Mrs. Eleanor Von Gogh, 103-31-72; Mrs. Louise Shaeffer, 113-38-75; Mrs. Jean Hildebrandt, 97-20-77; Mrs. Doris Murray, 103-24-79; Mrs. Vivian Moscowitz, 125-45-80; Mrs. Elizabeth DeWitt, 127-31-96; Mrs. S. Bernard, 118-25-93.

Mrs. Hutchins, the club champion, fired a 37 on the front nine for low nine for the day. She was one under par at the end of 6 holes, with five pars and a birdie-4 on the 5th, when she ran into putting troubles.

The tournament will be completed next Tuesday, with threesomes teeing off starting at 9 a. m.

The monthly trophy tournament for the month of June ended in a tie between Mrs. Peg Sharpe and Mrs. Inger Walker, a check of the scores revealed. They will play off the tie in an 18-hole round at a later date.

Sis Balash Hits 527 in Foursome

Bob Hall fired 212, Carol Bertholf 519, Nels Hoff 200, Jim Gallo 200, Evelyn Gross 520, John Relyea 200, Ray Borg 207, Ken Boughton Sr. 200.

Team results:

Paul Gardner Or Spada Face Rockland Stars

The undefeated Spring Valley Bengals (3-0) come to town with finely honed fangs and, if the Braves have any serious designs on the 1962 NY-NJ League pennant, this is the time to prove it.

Spring Valley has a tough, veteran combination headed by a crack pitcher in Bob Willis, a former Triple A performer.

The Braves (2-1) are down to two pitchers—Paul Gardner and Mike Spada—and either will be severely tested by the 1960 league champions. The original Big Four of the Braves has dwindled to two—with Johnny Nolan operating in the Catskill Mountain League and Bob Maines nursing a sore arm.

Either Gardner or Spada is capable of stopping the Bengals, with adequate fielding and batting support. They are both fearless young pitchers unlikely to be awed by the Spring Valley veterans. But the Braves will have to be at their best to win this one.

Starter Indefinite

Just who gets the starting assignment tomorrow night is a secret shared only by Fred Davi, the general manager, and Dick Bartsch, the field pilot. Gardner was impressive in a 4-hit effort in beating Beacon, 7-2, while Spada turned in a glittering job in the local City League earlier this week.

The Bengals have the outstanding powerhouse in the league. Hughes, Platt, Art Budweiser and Klopchin give the Rockland County nine rugged batting array. They mauled Gardner pretty good in the seasonal opener which they won, 8-0, but Kingston has since won two straight and Gardner and Spada are in better stride.

This could be either a brilliant pitching duel or run to the lopsided. And when Kingston and Spring Valley clash there is always the prospect of a couple of good rhubarbs on the field.

Dundeen B Wins Feature Trot Race

MONTICELLO—Dundeen B., owned by Saul Finkelstein and Jimmy Cruise, stormed from far back in the pack to win Thursday's feature $1,500 Class B-2 trot in 2:2.06 at Monticello Raceway.

Jack Adams turned the eight-year-old mare by Star's Pride loose in the backstretch and Dundeen B. went on to coast to a one and three-qaurters length win at 8-1 odds. The winner paid mutuels of 20.00, 9.40 and 4.10.

'30' for Three Players

Sixteenth Hole Is Key To WCC's Invitational

While Wiltwyck Country Club mobilizes for its 5th annual Invitational, a check of the record book reveals an interesting pattern in the rapidly growing three-day golf classic.

The dates this year are July 13, 14 and 15, and more than 100 golfers are expected to compete.

Leon Randall, who has won everything in sight, and Harvey Bostic, share the four titles that have been contested to date.

By sheer coincidence, the winning margin in the first three tournaments was 3 and 2. On each occasion the tournament champion closed out the match with a birdie-2 on the par-three 16th hole.

Bostic and Randall took turns beating each other in the first two tournaments. Bostic won the 1958 inaugural, 3 and 2, and Randall gained revenge the following year, 3 and 2. In 1960, Bostic picked up his second crown with a 3 and 2 win over Bob Botsford of Dutchess and again it was a birdie-2 on the sixteenth that turned the trick.

Adler in Field

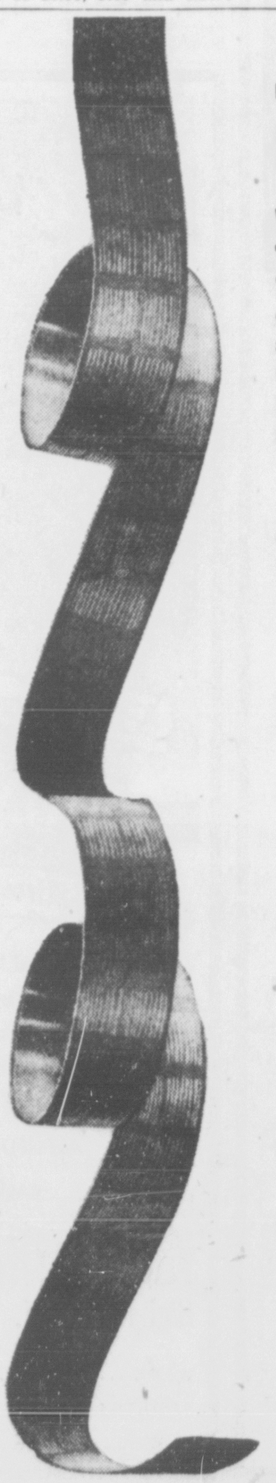

Randall captured the 1961 event with a 4 and 3 triumph over Ricky Bates of the Stamford Country Club clan. As usual, he will be the man to beat this time around.

First important challenger to file an entry is John Adler of the Southern Dutchess Club at Beacon. Adler is a hardened tournament player, with an excellent New York State Amateur record.

Golf chairman Andrew Petruski and Invitational chairman John Provenzano are working hard to make this tournament the biggest and best to date. They are combing the area for "name" amateurs and expect to present a star-studded field. In addition, the tournament will feature a stunning array of prizes and a round of social functions.

Rios struck out 15, just one more than Jones and walked one, while Jones issued two passes. The lone Lynn safety was a double by Gary Van Dine.

Rios' walk, a successful bunt by Roger Jones and some loose play by Lynns gave Sickler's a 2-0 lead in the second inning. They added their final marker in the fifth on Tom Emerick's single, Tom Dittus' bunt single and a Tony Lynn error.

Pete Mills hit a double for Sickler's. The three other hits, all singles, went to Tom Emerick, Tom Dittus and Roger Jones.

Karen Sussman America's Hope At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Karen Hantze Susman, United States Wightman Cup tennis star, today started laying plans to master a loping, soft-balling Czech player who reached the Wimbledon final by upsetting four of the world's top stars.

Karen, 19, plays Vera Sukova, 30, in the final Saturday. The two have never met before.

Karen was seeded No. 8. Nobody thought of seeding Mrs. Sukova, an ambling, heavily built baseline player who has been around the European circuit for years and never done anything spectacular.

But in the last 10 days, almost unnoticed, she has demolished Jan Lehane of Australia and three seeded stars—defending champion Angela Mortimer of Britain, U.S. Wightman Cup star Darlene Hard and 1959-60 Wimble champion Maria Bueno of Brazil.

Mrs. Sukova achieved her most incredible triumph Thursday, edging out Miss Bueno, the tennis tigress with the power service and the flashing volley, 6-4, 6-3 in the semifinals.

Mrs. Susman avenged a Wightman Cup defeat and crushed Ann Haydon of Britain 8-6, 6-1.

Karen, who comes from Chula Vista, Calif., but now lives with her husband Rod at San Antonio, Tex., sank the hopes of the crowd on the center court by her clear-cut victory over Miss Haydon, the pride of Britain.

If Mrs. Susman wins, she will take the title back to America for the first time since Althea Gibson won it in 1958. Mrs. Sukova is the first Czech ever to reach the women's final.

1-3 Daily Double Pays Only $18.30

MONTICELLO — Favorite Fay's True and Nevele Surprise won the first two races to form a daily double of $18.30 last night at Monticello Raceway. The double numbers were 1 and 3.

Harold Williams drove Fay's True to a 2:09.2 win in the first race, a Class C-3 conditioned pace. The five-year-old daughter of True Chief paid winning mutuels of 5.20, 3.20 and 2.80.

Irish Jewel was the place horse for 5.10 and 3.50. Third was Quick Sis for 3.20

Three horses did not finish the race because of an accident in front of the grandstand. They were Friscota, Success Rudy and Johnnie R.

Duck Drop

FINDLAY, Ohio — (NEA) — Last winter Ohio game management personnel erected foundations in trees to serve as nests for the captive goose flock at Kildeer Wildlife Area. A mallard hen has beaten the Canada geese to one of the half-drum nesting sites located 25 feet up a tree. Mallards almost always nest on the ground, so game men are speculating on how the mama mallard will bring her young ones down to earth when they hatch. Wood ducks nest in trees. Young wood ducks just step off into space. Whether mallard chicks can survive such a fall remains to be seen.

Houk Picks Team, Ducks for Cover

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Manager Ralph Houk completed selection of the American League all-stars today and ducked for cover.

The Yankee pilot added 17 players to the front line squad of eight who will meet the National League stars in Washington next Tuesday, naming eight pitchers and nine alternate infielders, outfielders and catchers.

Houk, like his National League counterpart Fred Hutchinson picked only one southpaw on his pitching staff—Hank Aguirre (6-3) of Detroit. His right-handers are Dick Donovan, Cleveland (12-3), Camilo Pascual, Minnesota (12-4), Jim Bunning, Detroit (8-4), Bill Monbouquette, Boston (7-8), Dave Stenhouse, Washington (6-3), Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore (3-5), and Ralph Terry, New York (10-7).

Houk followed the player poll for the rest of the squad, naming the second choices at each position and adding his own catcher, Elston Howard, who finished third in the balloting.

Previously announced as starting players, selected by their fellow athletes, are outfielders Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of New York and Leon Wagner of Los Angeles, catcher Earl Battey and third baseman Rich Rollins of Minnesota, Baltimore first baseman Jim Gentile, Los Angeles second baseman Billy Moran and shortstop Luis Aparicio of Chicago.

These eight must play at least three innings, barring injury. Backing them will be outfielders Rocky Colavito of Detroit, Lee Thomas of Los Angeles and Jim Landis of Chicago; infielders Norm Siebern of Kansas City, Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh of New York and Brooks Robinson of Baltimore; and catchers John Romano of Cleveland and Howard.

To own this 3 bedroom ranch home is that total bank payments (Mtge., tax-ins, escrow) approximate $102 per month. No down payment for GI, $500 down on FHA. Area Taxi Driver Fatally Stricken At Poughkeepsie

A 59-year-old Highland resident was fatally stricken shortly after 5 a. m. today, while driving a taxicab on a Poughkeepsie street.

Police Chief John L. Martin, Poughkeepsie, told The Freeman, Harry B. Manville, of 58 Lower Grand Street, Highland, apparently suffered a heart attack.

The chief said Patrolman Roland Quinlan was on patrol on Academy Street at 5:05 a. m. when he saw a taxicab owned by DuBois Cab Co, traveling south. Suddenly, police said, the taxicab veered off the pavement, knocked down a parking meter post and rammed into a building.

Engine 1 and an ambulance from Vassar Hospital responded to calls. An intern on the ambulance pronounced Manville dead.

Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding was notified. He gave permission for removal of the body to a Poughkeepsie funeral home.

Favored for Shelters

Poughkeepsie's Common Council has authorized City Manager Kenneth Pearce to sign agreements permitting Federal government designation of two city buildings as potential fallout shelters. They are the basements of Adriance Memorial Library and Cataract firehouse. Permission will include the right to install suitable signs and to maintain stocks of shelter equipment at no expense to the city.

Will Attend Opening

Poughkeepsie City officials will attend formal opening Saturday of the city's new water treatment plant near the river front north of the city line. Representatives of the State Department of Health are expected to atend, according to Superintendent of Public Works Harold R. Dean, in charge of arrangements.

Chief Haythorne Warns False Alarm Callers

Fire Chief George Haythorne had some strong words at this week's Fire Company No. 1 about two topics that have caused him great concern in recent months.

One of the problems is the insistence of many people to clog up the official fire telephone when an alarm has been sounded. The other deals with false alarms.

Chief Haythorne said that despite repeated urging in the past there are still many persons who persist in the practice of using the fire telephone to determine the location of the fire.

"As we have pointed out many times in the past, this practice ties up the fire telephone at a crucial time. It also prevents the receiving of any additional emergency calls or the chief from getting in touch with the fire headquarters should he need additional equipment or apparatus," said Chief Haythorne.

"We are therefore once again appealing to all residents to stop this practice and please cooperate with the department by using the fire telephone for emergency calls only."

On the subject of false alarms, Chief Haythorn noted that there had been too many lately and they were posing a serious problem for the fire fighters.

The chief said department officials have a pretty good idea who the offenders are and are now checking thoroughly all calls coming in on that telephone.

"A word to the wise is sufficient," said Chief Haythorne, "and we warn the false alarm callers to stop before they are apprehended and dealt with according to the maximum punishment perscribed by law."

"It is bad enough that the men have to risk injury in responding to a real emergency, without being subjected to such ordeals through false alarms." said the chief.

The chairman of the company's annual bazaar committee submitted his report which thanked all of the people who worked and gave much time to help make the bazaar an outstanding financial and artistic success. He also thanked the people of the town for their splendid turnout and support of the bazaar.

Maverick Hall's Concerts Star Four Soloists

Two highly interesting concerts featuring four prominent musicians will be given at Maverick Hall this weekend in Woodstock. On Saturday night at 8:40, Julius Baker, flutist, and Joseph Wolman, on the piano, will perform works by Bach, Corelli, Chopin, Bloch and a first performance of Alexander Semmler's Rhapsody for Flute and Piano.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m., the third in the regularly scheduled Maverick Sunday concerts will present cellist Jules Eskin and pianist Jacqueline Marcault playing works by Beethoven, Brahms, Webern and some very interesting pieces by three lesser known composers.

Julius Baker, one of the most prominent flutists in the United States, has just returned from Vienna where he recorded a number of flute concerts with the Vienna Philharmonic. Born in Cleveland, Ohio, he graduated from the Curtis Institute , was a member of the Cleveland Syhphony under Arthur Rodzinski, has been first flutist with the Pittsburg, the CBS and Chicago Symphony orchestras, and at present is on the faculty at Juilliard in New York and the New School of Music in Philadelphia.

Pianist Joseph Wolman, who was born in New York, is on the faculty of Brooklyn College, has been music director of Chamber Music Associates for 11 years and concertized widely. Writing about Wolman's Town Hall concert last March, the New York Times called him "a serious artist whose playing is . . . neat, bold, delicate and spirited. In short, an impressive recital."

Semmler has this to say about his Rhapsody for Flute and Piano, which will receive its premier performance Saturday night: "It was written in May, 1962. Both instruments are of equal importance in the projection of musical ideas. A slow introduction, by turns dreamy, dramatic and mysterious, leads into a gay allegro movement. After a dramatic climax, a slow middle-section ensues which is rather despondent in character. Then the allegro returns and the work comes to a joyful conclusion."

Jules Eskin, who has played in Woodstock previously as a member of the Beaux-Arts Quartet, is the first cellist of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra. He has been soloist with the City Center and the Opera Ballet. During the winter of 1960-61, he concertized in Germany and Holland. A graduate of the Curtis Institute, where he studied with Piatigorsky, he recently won the Naumberg Foundation Award.

A graduate of the Florence Conservatory, Jacqueline Marcault gave her first United States concert at the Maverick in 1947. She studied piano with the late Alfred Cortot, concertized extensively in Europe, and at present teaches piano at the Cleveland Institute of Music.

The Eskin-Marcault program will include a Suite by Caix d'Hervelois, 1670-1760, which may best be described as like pre-baroque lute music; three Studies by a contemporary young Australian, Don Banks; and five charming French dances, each named after a different province, by Paul Bazelaire.

36 Enroll in Play School

Thirty-six youngsters have registered for the annual Summer Play School which opened Thursday at the Woodstock elementary school grounds.

The school is for children from 2½ years to kindergarten age. Sessions which are held Monday through Friday, from 9 a. m. to 11:45 a. m. are supervised by mothers of the youngsters.

The school can use outgrown but usable toys of the larger sizes. Persons willing to donate such toys are asked to bring them to the school grounds.

Chamber Slates July 10 Meeting

A membership meeting of the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce has been set for Thursday, July 10, at 8 p. m. at Town Hall.

The Board of Directors announced that various committees will be selected and chairmen designated for the committees that are approved by the membership.

A large number of committees have been proposed, among them the following: merchants retail promotion, retail advertising, etc.; social functions, annual banquet, picnics, testimonial dinners and other social functions; highway and industrial, building and maintenance of highways, state, county, and local; handle industrial inquiries, analyze prospective industries, publish industrial guide.

Also, membership and dues and attendance; obtain new members, arrange membership breakfasts, arrange for collection of dues. Resorts: publish a resort brochure, promote the Woodstock area, civic and historical pride, work for the maintenance of a clean, attractive township; Legal and Legislations: investigate and interpret current and proposed legislation; Public Relations: publicize the activities of the chamber; Art and Culture; promote the arts, music and writing. Recreational: work for recreational facilities for adults and children.

Only paid up members will be permitted to vote for and serve on committees. The Board of Directors feels that since, at last, Woodstock has formed a Chamber of Commerce it is most important that it be fully representative of the sentiments of Woodstock's various business, resort and cultural interests.

Barn, Brush Fires Harass Firemen Through County

Firemen from Marlboro, Milton and Middle Hope battled a fire Thursday afternoon that swept a large frame barn on Plattekill Road, Marlboro, and a rash of forest and brush fires were reported in other districts of the county.

A two-story frame barn, about 40 by 60 feet in size, was leveled on the Charles Greiner property, operated by the Greiner Brothers of Marlboro. Firemen from that district were summoned to the scene at about 2:30 p. m., and through Mutual Aid, fire companies from Milton and Middle Hope were dispatched to assist.

Arthur Greiner said today the barn was used to store apple crates, ladders and other articles. He estimated the loss between $5,000 and $6,000. Greiner said the cause of the blaze was not determined, but a cigaret flipped from a nearby driveway might have started the fire.

Greiner stated the fire started outside the barn.

Shortly after 11:15 p. m. yesterday, Centerville firemen from Companies 1 and 2 in charge of Chief Robert Thein were dispatched to the State Thruway south of Saugerties to extinguish fire that broke out in dual wheels of a tractor-trailer and scorched the body of the vehicle. The truck was owned by Plymouth Rock Provision Co., Bronx. The vehicle was towed away. The operator's name was not available today.

Ellenville responded to an alarm for a brush fire yesterday afternoon. Early today Ellenville volunteers were called out to extinguish an automobile fire.

Brush or forest fires were reported in the Saxton, Katsbaan-Asbury and Centerville Districts.

Centerville volunteers, according to Chief Thein, shortly before noon, responded to a forest fire on the property of Oscar Short at Pine Grove. Men were still at the scene at Freeman press time. Chief Thein said the fire was in the same area where firemen fought a blaze on Wednesday.

Shortly after noon fire trucks were relieved and returned to station, but firemen remained at the scene with forest rangers to prevent a new flare up.

At 7:30 a. m. today Centerville firemen were dispatched to Quarryville near the Dengler property to extinguish a brush fire. Chief Thein said that while firemen fought the flames, other firemen with apparatus stood by to protect the Dengler home.

$11,427 Gift Ignored

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A white woman carrying a small fortune in stocks and cash told police she tried to donate $11,427 to the Black Muslim sect Thursday night but failed.

Helen Herman, 52, who gave a Santa Monica address and talked of having once lived in Chicago, was taken to Central Receiving Hospital and later was transferred to General Hospital for observation.

Officers quoted her as saying she walked up to the Temple of Islam and told three men standing outside: "I want to give you some money to help kill the white people."

The officers said she was ignored. Eventually, she walked around the corner to a private residence and knocked on the door.

Name Daniel Levy To Sheriff's Staff

Daniel Levy of Colonial Gardens, a brother of Patrolman Meyer Levy of Kingston police force, has been given a temporary appointment as deputy sheriff on the staff of Sheriff Claude Bell.

Sheriff Bell said the vacancy had been created by the advancement of men on the staff. Prior to a permanent appointment to the staff, Deputy Levy must pass physical tests and other requirements pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors on May 10, which sets up qualifications for the office of deputy sheriff, among them being that he must attend a training school prior to full-time appointment.

Deputy Sheriff Levy assumed his new duties today. He had previously been an employe of the city.

A 39-year-old former Beacon resident has been committed to Matteawan State Hospital for the criminally insane, on orders of Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz, who ruled Howard Neuhoff, the defendant, was incapable of understanding the nature of charges lodged against him, and unable to consult with counsel. Neuhoff was indicted on charges of endangering the health of a 10-year-old boy last March.

FREEMAN ADVS. BRING RESULTS

Lake Is Slightly Below Capacity Despite Drought

For the three month period, April through June, the 1962 rainfall was over 40 per cent below the 1961 total for these three months, the report noted.

Board President Donald Hyatt read a letter from a Kingston resident complimenting two men of a water department work crew who fixed a leak in a main on Abeel Street recently. The letter cited the men for working under adverse conditions while water was gushing out of the main.

President Hyatt said it was gratifying to receive such a letter and said that this "devotion to duty" by department employes had been typical of all employes over many years.

Following the meeting board members met with three members of Mayor John J. Schwenk's charter revision committee, Robert Williams, John R. Shults, and Mrs. Paul C. Mezer. The mayor's committee is reviewing the work of the city departments and board in order to determine if the present city charter enables the departments to operate in an efficient and business-like manner.

Sanctions Likely

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The National Education Association will consider—and probably approve—use of sanctions against school districts which it considers to have intolerable teaching conditions.

Such an action would mark a turning point in the history of the 813,000-member organization. Never before has the association tried to put teeth into its policy of settling disputes between teachers and school boards solely through negotiation.

Sentencing Set Aug. 3

Admitting that he clubbed a 15-year-old Poughkeepsie boy with a baseball bat fracturing his skull, Robert Joseph Craddock, 40, of 92½ Academy Street, that city, will be sentenced in Dutchess County Court August 3. Craddock was indicted on second degree assault charges, accused of clubbing Donald S. Signor, of 60 Carroll Street, Poughkeepsie and then holding him captive in a wooded area for 17 hours before obtaining medical aid for the semi-conscious boy. Craddock, a maintenance man at a Highland motel, pleaded guilty to second degree assault charges.

Woman's Trial Set

Trial of Mrs. Lucille Nelson Cherry, 29, of 124 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, on a charge of second degree murder has been set by Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz for Sept. 10. Mrs. Cherry is accused of the butcher knife slaying of Nathaniel Cherry, 35, of the Poughkeepsie address. At the time of her arrest, police said the defendant plunged a knife into Cherry's heart on June 1 after he reportedly threw an iron at her. A plea of innocent previously was entered on behalf of the accused woman.

One Good Reason

To own this 3 bedroom ranch home is that total bank payments (Mtge., tax-ins, escrow) approximate $102 per month. No down payment for GI, $500 down on FHA. Other good reasons are the low selling price of $14,500, alum. s-s, built-in range-oven in spacious modern kitchen, 3 bedrooms, full basement, garage, low heating cost. Excellent condition all newly painted. Good value and a nice home.

Area Taxi Driver Fatally Stricken At Poughkeepsie

Police Chief John L. Martin, Poughkeepsie, told The Freeman, Harry B. Manville, of 58 Lower Grand Street, Highland, apparently suffered a heart attack.

The chief said Patrolman Roland Quinlan was on patrol on Academy Street at 5:05 a. m. when he saw a taxicab owned by DuBois Cab Co, traveling south. Suddenly, police said, the taxicab veered off the pavement, knocked down a parking meter post and rammed into a building.

Engine 1 and an ambulance from Vassar Hospital responded to calls. An intern on the ambulance pronounced Manville dead.

Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding was notified. He gave permission for removal of the body to a Poughkeepsie funeral home.

Favored for Shelters

Poughkeepsie's Common Council has authorized City Manager Kenneth Pearce to sign agreements permitting Federal government designation of two city buildings as potential fallout shelters. They are the basements of Adriance Memorial Library and Cataract firehouse. Permission will include the right to install suitable signs and to maintain stocks of shelter equipment at no expense to the city.

Will Attend Opening

Poughkeepsie City officials will attend formal opening Saturday of the city's new water treatment plant near the river front north of the city line. Representatives of the State Department of Health are expected to atend, according to Superintendent of Public Works Harold R. Dean, in charge of arrangements.

Chief Haythorne Warns False Alarm Callers

Fire Chief George Haythorne had some strong words at this week's Fire Company No. 1 about two topics that have caused him great concern in recent months.

One of the problems is the insistence of many people to clog up the official fire telephone when an alarm has been sounded. The other deals with false alarms.

Chief Haythorne said that despite repeated urging in the past there are still many persons who persist in the practice of using the fire telephone to determine the location of the fire.

"As we have pointed out many times in the past, this practice ties up the fire telephone at a crucial time. It also prevents the receiving of any additional emergency calls or the chief from getting in touch with the fire headquarters should he need additional equipment or apparatus," said Chief Haythorne.

"We are therefore once again appealing to all residents to stop this practice and please cooperate with the department by using the fire telephone for emergency calls only."

On the subject of false alarms, Chief Haythorn noted that there had been too many lately and they were posing a serious problem for the fire fighters.

The chief said department officials have a pretty good idea who the offenders are and are now checking thoroughly all calls coming in on that telephone.

"A word to the wise is sufficient," said Chief Haythorne, "and we warn the false alarm callers to stop before they are apprehended and dealt with according to the maximum punishment perscribed by law."

"It is bad enough that the men have to risk injury in responding to a real emergency, without being subjected to such ordeals through false alarms." said the chief.

The chairman of the company's annual bazaar committee submitted his report which thanked all of the people who worked and gave much time to help make the bazaar an outstanding financial and artistic success. He also thanked the people of the town for their splendid turnout and support of the bazaar.

36 Enroll in Play School

Thirty-six youngsters have registered for the annual Summer Play School which opened Thursday at the Woodstock elementary school grounds.

The school is for children from 2½ years to kindergarten age. Sessions which are held Monday through Friday, from 9 a. m. to 11:45 a. m. are supervised by mothers of the youngsters.

Mrs. Charles R. Eickhorn of Woodstock is chairman of the program. Three others are in attendance daily, supervising a well-rounded program of activities.

The school can use outgrown but usable toys of the larger sizes. Persons willing to donate such toys are asked to bring them to the school grounds.

Chamber Slates July 10 Meeting

A membership meeting of the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce has been set for Thursday, July 10, at 8 p. m. at Town Hall.

The Board of Directors announced that various committees will be selected and chairmen designated for the committees that are approved by the membership.

A large number of committees have been proposed, among them the following: merchants retail promotion, retail advertising, etc.; social functions, annual banquet, picnics, testimonial dinners and other social functions; highway and industrial, building and maintenance of highways, state, county, and local; handle industrial inquiries, analyze prospective industries, publish industrial guide.

Also, membership and dues and attendance; obtain new members, arrange membership breakfasts, arrange for collection of dues. Resorts: publish a resort brochure, promote the Woodstock area, civic and historical pride, work for the maintenance of a clean, attractive township; Legal and Legislations: investigate and interpret current and proposed legislation; Public Relations: publicize the activities of the chamber; Art and Culture; promote the arts, music and writing. Recreational: work for recreational facilities for adults and children.

Only paid up members will be permitted to vote for and serve on committees. The Board of Directors feels that since, at last, Woodstock has formed a Chamber of Commerce it is most important that it be fully representative of the sentiments of Woodstock's various business, resort and cultural interests.

Maverick Hall's Concerts Star Four Soloists

Two highly interesting concerts featuring four prominent musicians will be given at Maverick Hall this weekend in Woodstock. On Saturday night at 8:40, Julius Baker, flutist, and Joseph Wolman, on the piano, will perform works by Bach, Corelli, Chopin, Bloch and a first performance of Alexander Semmler's Rhapsody for Flute and Piano.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m., the third in the regularly scheduled Maverick Sunday concerts will present cellist Jules Eskin and pianist Jacqueline Marcault playing works by Beethoven, Brahms, Webern and some very interesting pieces by three lesser known composers.

Julius Baker, one of the most prominent flutists in the United States, has just returned from Vienna where he recorded a number of flute concerts with the Vienna Philharmonic. Born in Cleveland, Ohio, he graduated from the Curtis Institute , was a member of the Cleveland Syhphony under Arthur Rodzinski, has been first flutist with the Pittsburg, the CBS and Chicago Symphony orchestras, and at present is on the faculty at Juilliard in New York and the New School of Music in Philadelphia.

Pianist Joseph Wolman, who was born in New York, is on the faculty of Brooklyn College, has been music director of Chamber Music Associates for 11 years and concertized widely. Writing about Wolman's Town Hall concert last March, the New York Times called him "a serious artist whose playing is . . . neat, bold, delicate and spirited. In short, an impressive recital."

Semmler has this to say about his Rhapsody for Flute and Piano, which will receive its premier performance Saturday night: "It was written in May, 1962. Both instruments are of equal importance in the projection of musical ideas. A slow introduction, by turns dreamy, dramatic and mysterious, leads into a gay allegro movement. After a dramatic climax, a slow middle-section ensues which is rather despondent in character. Then the allegro returns and the work comes to a joyful conclusion."

Jules Eskin, who has played in Woodstock previously as a member of the Beaux-Arts Quartet, is the first cellist of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra. He has been soloist with the City Center and the Opera Ballet. During the winter of 1960-61, he concertized in Germany and Holland. A graduate of the Curtis Institute, where he studied with Piatigorsky, he recently won the Naumberg Foundation Award.

A graduate of the Florence Conservatory, Jacqueline Marcault gave her first United States concert at the Maverick in 1947. She studied piano with the late Alfred Cortot, concertized extensively in Europe, and at present teaches piano at the Cleveland Institute of Music.

The Eskin-Marcault program will include a Suite by Caix d'Hervelois, 1670-1760, which may best be described as like pre-baroque lute music; three Studies by a contemporary young Australian, Don Banks; and five charming French dances, each named after a different province, by Paul Bazelaire.

Barn, Brush Fires Harass Firemen Through County

Firemen from Marlboro, Milton and Middle Hope battled a fire Thursday afternoon that swept a large frame barn on Plattekill Road, Marlboro, and a rash of forest and brush fires were reported in other districts of the county.

A two-story frame barn, about 40 by 60 feet in size, was leveled on the Charles Greiner property, operated by the Greiner Brothers of Marlboro. Firemen from that district were summoned to the scene at about 2:30 p. m., and through Mutual Aid, fire companies from Milton and Middle Hope were dispatched to assist.

Arthur Greiner said today the barn was used to store apple crates, ladders and other articles. He estimated the loss between $5,000 and $6,000. Greiner said the cause of the blaze was not determined, but a cigaret flipped from a nearby driveway might have started the fire.

Greiner stated the fire started outside the barn.

Shortly after 11:15 p. m. yesterday, Centerville firemen from Companies 1 and 2 in charge of Chief Robert Thein were dispatched to the State Thruway south of Saugerties to extinguish fire that broke out in dual wheels of a tractor-trailer and scorched the body of the vehicle. The truck was owned by Plymouth Rock Provision Co., Bronx. The vehicle was towed away. The operator's name was not available today.

Ellenville responded to an alarm for a brush fire yesterday afternoon. Early today Ellenville volunteers were called out to extinguish an automobile fire.

Brush or forest fires were reported in the Saxton, Katsbaan-Asbury and Centerville Districts.

Centerville volunteers, according to Chief Thein, shortly before noon, responded to a forest fire on the property of Oscar Short at Pine Grove. Men were still at the scene at Freeman press time. Chief Thein said the fire was in the same area where firemen fought a blaze on Wednesday.

Shortly after noon fire trucks were relieved and returned to station, but firemen remained at the scene with forest rangers to prevent a new flare up.

At 7:30 a. m. today Centerville firemen were dispatched to Quarryville near the Dengler property to extinguish a brush fire. Chief Thein said that while firemen fought the flames, other firemen with apparatus stood by to protect the Dengler home.

$11,427 Gift Ignored

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A white woman carrying a small fortune in stocks and cash told police she tried to donate $11,427 to the Black Muslim sect Thursday night but failed.

Helen Herman, 52, who gave a Santa Monica address and talked of having once lived in Chicago, was taken to Central Receiving Hospital and later was transferred to General Hospital for observation.

Officers quoted her as saying she walked up to the Temple of Islam and told three men standing outside: "I want to give you some money to help kill the white people."

The officers said she was ignored. Eventually, she walked around the corner to a private residence and knocked on the door.

Name Daniel Levy To Sheriff's Staff

Daniel Levy of Colonial Gardens, a brother of Patrolman Meyer Levy of Kingston police force, has been given a temporary appointment as deputy sheriff on the staff of Sheriff Claude Bell.

Sheriff Bell said the vacancy had been created by the advancement of men on the staff. Prior to a permanent appointment to the staff, Deputy Levy must pass physical tests and other requirements pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors on May 10, which sets up qualifications for the office of deputy sheriff, among them being that he must attend a training school prior to full-time appointment.

Deputy Sheriff Levy assumed his new duties today. He had previously been an employe of the city.

Sent to Matteawan

A 39-year-old former Beacon resident has been committed to Matteawan State Hospital for the criminally insane, on orders of Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz, who ruled Howard Neuhoff, the defendant, was incapable of understanding the nature of charges lodged against him, and unable to consult with counsel. Neuhoff was indicted on charges of endangering the health of a 10-year-old boy last March.

Lake Is Slightly Below Capacity Despite Drought

For the three month period, April through June, the 1962 rainfall was over 40 per cent below the 1961 total for these three months, the report noted.

Board President Donald Hyatt read a letter from a Kingston resident complimenting two men of a water department work crew who fixed a leak in a main on Abeel Street recently. The letter cited the men for working under adverse conditions while water was gushing out of the main.

President Hyatt said it was gratifying to receive such a letter and said that this "devotion to duty" by department employes had been typical of all employes over many years.

Following the meeting board members met with three members of Mayor John J. Schwenk's charter revision committee, Robert Williams, John R. Shults, and Mrs. Paul C. Mezer. The mayor's committee is reviewing the work of the city departments and board in order to determine if the present city charter enables the departments to operate in an efficient and business-like manner.

Sanctions Likely

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The National Education Association will consider—and probably approve—use of sanctions against school districts which it considers to have intolerable teaching conditions.

Such an action would mark a turning point in the history of the 813,000-member organization. Never before has the association tried to put teeth into its policy of settling disputes between teachers and school boards solely through negotiation.

Nixon Comes Out For Conference, Committee Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he supports both the All-Republican Conference, organized by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and the recently formed National Republican Citizens Committee.

Nixon and his wife arrived by plane Thursday from Denmark, where he addressed a Fourth of July celebration.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said earlier Thursday in Washington that he approved of the conference, formed last Saturday at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm as a Republican policy organization.

In a letter sent Monday to William E. Miller, GOP national committee chairman, Goldwater said: "President Eisenhower and I agree on that (the All-Republican Conference) but we disagree on the National Citizens Committee."

Said Nixon: "I think both organizations are additives rather than being divisive, and an additive is what the Republicans need."

Rocky Blames Demos For Defeat of CR

Rockefeller spoke Thursday night at a dinner held by the Council of Bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in the Park Sheraton Hotel.

The governor had submitted a resolution to the conference, which ended Wednesday at Hershey, Pa., calling on the governors to pledge themselves to positive action to guarantee civil rights. The conference finally agreed to bypass the resolution.

"Had it been allowed to come to a vote," Rockefeller said, "it is clearly evident that far more than a majority of the governors would have supported it."

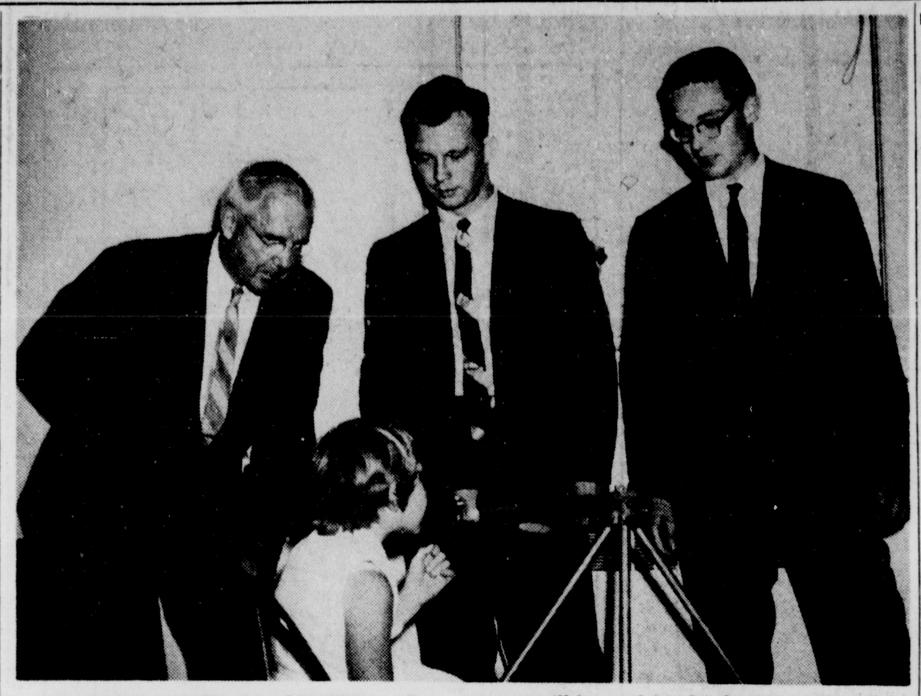

Considers Running

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Reed A. Benson, 34, son of former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, says he is considering seeking Republican nomination for Congress.

Benson said today he probably will make a decision this weekend. The filing deadline for the September primary is Tuesday.

Board Approves Payment of Bill From Architects

At a special meeting of the board of education Monday night approval of the architect's bill in the amount of $10,154.81 was given by the board.

The amount will be included in the budget for the coming school year. Attorney Morris Rosenblum who was present at the meeting indicated that this is a legal charge against the district and cannot be evaded.

Compensation for two men to supervise the setting up and use of four voting machines at the annual school meeting Wednesday, July 11, was given by the board in the amount of $37.50 for each man. The two men who will supervise are Edward Flanagan and Percy Dederick.

Henry Breitenbach was added to the board committee to study ways and means of providing additional classrooms. The committee as previously constituted included Steve Stycos, Jack Packanen and Richard Smith.

Approval was given by the board for the transportation of two more parochial school pupils to St. Catherine Leboure. This brings to a total of 50, the number of pupils who will be transported from this district to parochial schools outside of the district.

Dr. Grant D. Morse indicated to the board that pupils had been retained for next year as follows: In the elementary, grades 1-6, 58 out of 1,832 were retained or 4.26 per cent. In the seventh grade, seven were retained for a percentage of 3.8.

Two new additions to the faculty were approved as follows: Mrs. Barbara T. Allen as teacher of homemaking, replacing Miss Mary Ambrose who resigned. Mrs. Allen is a graduate of Northern Michigan College, Marquette, Mich., where she earned a bachelor of science degree in homemaking. In addition to one year of teaching in the local system, Mrs. Allen has had experience as a teacher of homemaking in the Rondout Valley Central School.

Mrs. Marie L. Risser will be a kindergarten teacher in the Main Street School. She is a graduate of the New Jersey State Teachers College where she earned a bachelor of science degree. She has had 11 year's experience, one of which was in the local school system.

Approval was given by the board to the appointment of Mrs. Irene Krogh as secretary to the superintendent of schools. Mrs. Krogh is a graduate of Central High School, Providence, R. I., and has two years at Kendall College, Evanston, Ill.

The salary scale for clerical workers for the Saugerties Central Schools was approved by the board.

Lions Club Will Install Officers

The Saugerties Lions Club will hold installation of officers at its meeting next Monday night with Frank Costello assuming the presidency for the coming year.

Miss Patricia Breen, a member of this year's graduating class of the Saugerties High School will be guest of honor at the dinner which starts at 6:30 p. m. at the Flamingo Restaurant. Miss Breen was the recipient of the first annual Lions Club Charter Member Merit Award this year and will receive a grant of $100 per year for four years while attending college.

Youth Weekend Events Slated

Members of the Southside Men's Club have plans completed for the Youth Weekend to be held on Saturday and Sunday at the Southside Playground for children of that area between the ages of six and 14 and their parents.

The activities will begin at dusk Saturday evening with movie and resume Sunday afternoon with field day events of all kinds. Competitive races, bicycle rides, ball games and many other events will be held with free refreshments for all during the festivities.

DeCelle Defends His Candidacy

In a statement issued today, Arthur J. De Celle, a candidate for a three year term on the Saugerties Central School Board of Education lashed out at what he termed "the decentralized notions" of some area groups.

He said, "as expected, the specious old shibboleth of area representation has been raised once again in defense of some school districts which have been dissolved for six years now. It is a strange thing to see the outstanding exponents of centralization preaching complete decentralization of the school board. This decentralized notion stems from the 'have your cake and eat it too' theory, and, should be reprehensible to any fair minded person.

"Before deciding to fifile a petition for the school election, I consulted with several friends in both the rural and village areas. All of them told me that this issue would be raised, but urged me to file for the position anyway. If elected to the board, I pledge that my interest in school affairs will be for the good of the entire district, not for any single area. I'm not going to buck the centralized system with the narrow provincial attitude that is binding some of the opposition.

"I further pledge to work diligently to give the parents of the Saugerties school children the most for their educational tax dollar. I will always keep in mind the fact that the preponderance of those dollars are, in all ways, extracted from the pay of local taxpayers."

Glasco Bazaar Set

The Glasco Fire Department will hold its annual bazaar Friday and Saturday of this week as part of its fund raising campaign for charitable purposes. The event will be hold on the community field just off the main street and will be climaxed Saturday night with the usual fireworks display. A spaghetti supper will be served between 6 and 9 p. m. Saturday. The public may attend.

Cake Sale Sunday

Town of Hurley GOP to Hear Mino on Courts

Members of the Republican Club of the Town of Hurley will meet Tuesday, July 10, at 8 p. m. in West Hurley Fire Hall to hear details of the new reorganization of the state's courts which was authorized last November by the voters of the state through a Constitutional Amendment.

Peter Weider, president of the club announced today that the matter of the new court reforms and what effect they will have on the resident of Ulster County will be explained by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Among the subjects which Judge Mino will explain will be the unified court system, the new jurisdiction of county courts, the wider use of retired judges and the wider training of justices of the peace who are not attorneys and the new, all-important Family Court which will come into being in Ulster County this fall.

The Family Court, which will be an entirely new concept in judicial procedure in the county, will have a great effect on both juvenile and family problems and is one of the phases of the new court act which should be of the greatest interest to local residents since it will have a bearing on every person in the county.

President Weider pointed out that the matter of the new court reform, which just last night was the subject of a special meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, is of such vital importance that he urges every member of the club who can possibly attend this meeting of the club to do so. There will also be a regular meeting for club business following Judge Mino's talk and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Our citizens must awaken to their responsibilities, they must be willing to dedicate themselves to the task ahead of us, willing to provide that leadership which the nation and the world needs in these troubled times. The universities must do their share by making sure that the education they offer is broad enough to give the individual perspective and understanding of the world in which he lives; he emphasized that this breadth is important, not only for liberal arts students, but it is also vital for students engaged in vocational preparation, and in narrow specialties of science and other fields of study.

Nixon Comes Out For Conference, Committee Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he supports both the All-Republican Conference, organized by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and the recently formed National Republican Citizens Committee.

Nixon and his wife arrived by plane Thursday from Denmark, where he addressed a Fourth of July celebration.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said earlier Thursday in Washington that he approved of the conference, formed last Saturday at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm as a Republican policy organization.

In a letter sent Monday to William E. Miller, GOP national committee chairman, Goldwater said: "President Eisenhower and I agree on that (the All-Republican Conference) but we disagree on the National Citizens Committee."

Said Nixon: "I think both organizations are additives rather than being divisive, and an additive is what the Republicans need."

Rocky Blames Demos For Defeat of CR

Rockefeller spoke Thursday night at a dinner held by the Council of Bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in the Park Sheraton Hotel.

The governor had submitted a resolution to the conference, which ended Wednesday at Hershey, Pa., calling on the governors to pledge themselves to positive action to guarantee civil rights. The conference finally agreed to bypass the resolution.

"Had it been allowed to come to a vote," Rockefeller said, "it is clearly evident that far more than a majority of the governors would have supported it."

Approval was given by the board for the transportation of two more parochial school pupils to St. Catherine Leboure. This brings to a total of 50, the number of pupils who will be transported from this district to parochial schools outside of the district.

Dr. Grant D. Morse indicated to the board that pupils had been retained for next year as follows: In the elementary, grades 1-6, 58 out of 1,832 were retained or 4.26 per cent. In the seventh grade, seven were retained for a percentage of 3.8.

Two new additions to the faculty were approved as follows: Mrs. Barbara T. Allen as teacher of homemaking, replacing Miss Mary Ambrose who resigned. DeCelle Defends His Candidacy

In a statement issued today, Arthur J. De Celle, a candidate for a three year term on the Saugerties Central School Board of Education lashed out at what he termed "the decentralized notions" of some area groups.

He said, "as expected, the specious old shibboleth of area representation has been raised once again in defense of some school districts which have been dissolved for six years now. It is a strange thing to see the outstanding exponents of centralization preaching complete decentralization of the school board. This decentralized notion stems from the 'have your cake and eat it too' theory, and, should be reprehensible to any fair minded person.

"Before deciding to fifile a petition for the school election, I consulted with several friends in both the rural and village areas. All of them told me that this issue would be raised, but urged me to ifle for the position anyway. If elected to the board, I pledge that my interest in school affairs will be for the good of the entire district, not for any single area. I'm not going to buck the centralized system with the narrow provincial attitude that is binding some of the opposition.

"I further pledge to work diligently to give the parents of the Saugerties school children the most for their educational tax dollar. I will always keep in mind the fact that the preponderance of those dollars are, in all ways, extracted from the pay of local taxpayers."

Town of Hurley GOP to Hear Mino on Courts

Members of the Republican Club of the Town of Hurley will meet Tuesday, July 10, at 8 p. m. in West Hurley Fire Hall to hear details of the new reorganization of the state's courts which was authorized last November by the voters of the state through a Constitutional Amendment.

Peter Weider, president of the club announced today that the matter of the new court reforms and what effect they will have on the resident of Ulster County will be explained by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Among the subjects which Judge Mino will explain will be the unified court system, the new jurisdiction of county courts, the wider use of retired judges and the wider training of justices of the peace who are not attorneys and the new, all-important Family Court which will come into being in Ulster County this fall.

The Family Court, which will be an entirely new concept in judicial procedure in the county, will have a great effect on both juvenile and family problems and is one of the phases of the new court act which should be of the greatest interest to local residents since it will have a bearing on every person in the county.

President Weider pointed out that the matter of the new court reform, which just last night was the subject of a special meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, is of such vital importance that he urges every member of the club who can possibly attend this meeting of the club to do so. There will also be a regular meeting for club business following Judge Mino's talk and refreshments will be served after the meeting.
